STONE PLEDGED AID TO SHIPPING BEFORE PARTER

Said He'd Use Influence for American Vessels in Foreign Sales.

'DIDN'T THINK OF IT'
10 DAYS AFTERWARD

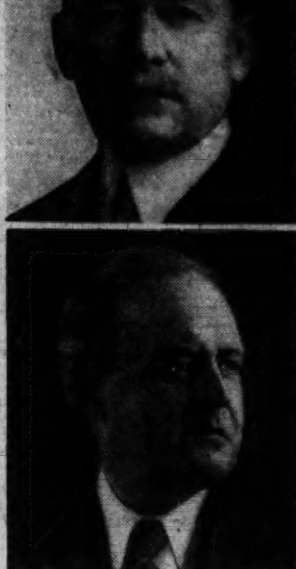

Two Members of Congress
Criticize 'Blunder'; Ship
Men Ask Hoover Aid.

By EDWARD T. FOLLARD.
Ten days before the United States and Brazil consummated their big wheat-and-coffee barter, James C. Stone, chairman of the Federal Farm Board, promised that he would do all that he could to have American ships used to haul whatever products the Farm Board might sell to foreign countries.
The promise was contained in a letter written by Chairman Stone on August 11, a copy of which was obtained by The Washington Post yesterday.
The letter, written to Hardin B. Arledge, special representative of the Middle West foreign trade committee, concluded with the following words:
"The board, of course, favors the use of ships flying the American flag, and if any foreign sales are made we will do what we can to have their service used."
British Likely to Get Job.
Nevertheless, when the wheat-coffee trade was announced by Chairman Stone last Friday, ten days later, it was discovered that American ships had been entirely overlooked and that Brazil was to use the American flag, most likely British, to get the big transportation job, or at least a big part of it. Consequently they are now urging President Hoover to have the deal re-opened.
It is estimated that the freight charges on the wheat and coffee will be in excess of $2,000,000.
The Brazilian government has a subsidized steamship line, the Lloyd Brasileiro Line, but, according to American steamship men, this could not haul half of the wheat and coffee.
"Never Thought of It."
Edwin H. Duff, attorney here for the American Steamship Owners Association, which represents the owners of 90 per cent of the merchant ships under the American flag, went to see Chairman Stone after the wheat-coffee deal had been closed. Mr. Duff says that when he asked Chairman Stone why American ships had not been used in the deal, the Farm Board head made the following reply:
"We never thought of that."
In view of this, the correspondence between Chairman Stone and Mr. Arledge is especially interesting, as has been stated, it took place ten days before the wheat and coffee deal went through. At that time negotiations were on for the sale of a quantity of surplus cotton to Germany.
Mr. Arledge's Letter.
On August 10 Mr. Arledge addressed the following letter to Chairman Stone:
"Hon. James C. Stone,
Chairman Federal Farm Board,
Washington, D. C.
"My dear Mr. Chairman: May we respectfully urge that if the board sells any of its commodities to Germany or other countries the board specify routing via American-flag ships, and if sales are made by the cooperatives or other private interests the board use its good offices to have the shipments made via American-flag ships.
"We know you favor the use of American-flag ships wherever possible and this is simply submitted as a reminder in case any sales are made.
"With kindest regards, I am
"Very truly yours,
"HARDIN B. ARLEDGE."
Chairman Stone Replies.
The next day, Chairman Stone replied as follows:
"Mr. Hardin B. Arledge,
Special Representative, Middle West Foreign Trade Committee,
920 Munsey Building,
Washington, D. C.
"Dear Mr. Arledge: I have your letter of August 10, in which you urge that if the board sells any of its commodities to Germany or other foreign countries they be routed via American flag ships, and if sales are made by cooperatives the board use its good offices to have the shipments made via American flag ships.
The board, of course, favors the use of ships flying the American flag, and if any foreign sales are made, we will do what we can to have their service used. With kind regards, I am, yours very truly,
JAMES C. STONE,
Chairman.

Reichelderfer Orders Third Degree Inquiry

Pratt Told to Investigate
Harker Charges of Police Beating.

Three separate investigations of the beating First Precinct police are alleged to have administered to James Henry Harker, 24 years old, of 701 North Capitol street, were under way in prospect yesterday shortly after Judge Robert E. Mattingly, in police court, ordered Harker held for the grand jury on a housebreaking charge.
In view of the Wickesham report on police methods, the District grand jury doubtless will make a complete investigation of the "third degree" accusations, Judge Mattingly declared. He felt, the judge said, that the preliminary hearing was not the proper place to air such charges.
He held that the matter before him was simply a determination that a prima facie case of housebreaking had been made against Harker by the police and that he could not go into matters of defense, which should be heard by a petit jury.
Meantime, Dr. Luther H. Reichelderfer, chairman of the Board of District Commissioners, had instructed Maj. Henry G. Pratt, superintendent of police, to make a most thorough investigation into charges that Harker had been beaten by police.
"We are going to the bottom of this matter at once," he said, pending a report from the police chief. "We certainly have no desire to cover up anybody. If the charges are sustained, there will be several policemen out of jobs very soon."

Upper: Commissioner Reichelderfer.
Lower: William W. Brice, Corporation Counsel.

Corporation Counsel William W. Brice also conferred with Maj. Pratt, on instructions from the District Commissioner, regarding Harker's complaint. Mr. Brice impressed Maj. Pratt with the seriousness with which the Commissioners regard the charges.

GIFFORD PLANS DINE FOR CASH BY LOCAL FUNDS

Stimulation Expected to Avoid Necessity for Federal Relief.

EFFORT TO BE MADE TO AROUSE COUNTRY

National Funds Campaigns to Be Synchronized and Date Set Later.

(United Press.)
The Federal program for relief of distress next winter will be a national drive to raise local funds. Walter S. Gifford, named by President Hoover to direct relief work, announced yesterday.
In brief, the plan is to stimulate private sources of relief and to intensify a spirit of responsibility among local, county and State governments, in hope that Federal aid will not be needed.
By means of a concerted national campaign, by personal contacts with relief organizations and by speeches over national radio networks, in addition to direct statements to newspapers, Gifford said he hoped the country would be stirred to a pitch where it would meet the unemployment relief situation adequately. The time for the national drive will be announced later.
Federal Aid Is Avoided.
But he left the way wide open for Federal funds if they are needed. Forty newspaper correspondents questioned him, at his first press conference, as to what would happen if local, county and State organizations, working under his direction, failed to raise the money necessary for adequate relief. Each time he replied: "We'll cross that bridge when we come to it."
Gifford had just returned from a week-end with the President at Rapidan Camp, along with Arthur Croxon, head of the President's emergency committee, when he opened up his new office at the Department of Commerce and called a press conference.
The first surprise was at Gifford's office. He is president of the American Telephone and Telegraph Co., one of the greatest industrial organizations of all history. Popular imagination pictured him in an office of movie proportions. But he was found standing at a little desk, jammed by a window against the end of a slightly larger conference table.
There were no jade fountain pens or rug or rug or rug. On one wall was a drab business map of the country. As he spoke, he was the head of the newest presidential commission, in an effort to locate Bishop Cannon's bank deposits during the 1928 campaign.
It was announced that H. G. Lull, treasurer of the Greater Washington Anti-Smith Democratic Club, has been subpoenaed, and also that Clarence True Wilson, head of the Board of Temperance and Morals of the Methodist Episcopal Church, was sought. Dr. Wilson sent word that he was detained on the Pacific Coast and he suggested that the committee call his associate, Deets Pickett.
London, Aug. 24 (A.P.).—Bishop James Cannon, Jr., of the Methodist Church South, in Europe on business in connection with missionary work in the Congo, said today he had no objection to investigation of his activities in the last presidential campaign by a properly constituted court. That he does not agree, however, that a Senate committee operating under no restrictions has a right to conduct an investigation concerning definite complaints of criminal conduct.

M'DONALD, FACING PARTY RE, SEEKS COOPERATIVE CABINET AS LABOR GOVERNMENT QUILTS

Collapse Was 'Dictated'
by U. S. Reserve Bank,
London Paper Says.

DOLE CUT INSISTED ON
AS CREDIT CONDITION

Acceptance of 'Ultimatum'
Held Blow to Prestige and Patriotism.

London (Tuesday), Aug. 25 (A.P.). The London Daily Herald, Great Britain's chief labor organ, today gives the most prominent place to a story in which it charges that the fall of the MacDonald government and the establishment of a new national administration was "dictated" by United States bankers.
The story says that the $250,000,000 credit recently acquired by the Bank of England was now nearly exhausted and that in seeking new money from the United States the Bank of England was informed by the Federal Reserve Bank that fresh credit could only be granted if drastic economies were made in the "dole."
"Virtual Ultimatum."
"The late government," the paper says, "was informed by the Federal Reserve Bank that credits would only be granted provided specific and considerable economies were made at once in the administration, or in the actual benefit paid under the unemployment insurance scheme."
"This virtual ultimatum from New York bankers played a vital part in driving the late cabinet on the issue of a 10 per cent reduction in unemployment benefits."
"The insistence by the Bank of England on the need for credits—even on these terms—" the paper added, "heightened the existing clash within the cabinet. It has been made absolutely clear that the credit will not be forthcoming unless and until measures which the United States bankers consider satisfactory are put into operation by the new cabinet."
Called Blow to Prestige.
In an editorial in this morning's issue the Herald said:
"While it is the patriotism, we may say, in allowing the Federal Reserve Bank of New York to dictate, as a condition for further credit to the Bank of England, the policies to be pursued in relation to the unemployment benefit?"
"This isn't patriotism, but acceptance of a dictatorship, not even of a British bank, but of international finance. It is a blow to British prestige equalled only by the terms of the Versailles Treaty."

Baldwin Holds Union Guarantee to World

Coalition No Sacrifice of Party Principles Considered
Gravity of Task, Says Conservative
Leader, Foreseeing Election Later.

London, Aug. 24 (A.P.).—Stanley Baldwin, Conservative leader, issued a statement late tonight giving the reasons why the Conservatives consented to enter the national government.
"The formation of a national government, containing members of the three parties in the state," the statement said, "is a guarantee to all concerned, at home and abroad, that the gravity of the situation is realized by those to whom the facts have been made known and that they are resolved at once to take the measures necessary to put the finances of the country in order."
"We are face to face with a grave national crisis, which, if it were not taken in hand with courage and firmness, would be fraught with serious consequences to every man, woman and child throughout the country."
"But our country, always gives proof of its greatness in times of national emergency and I have sufficient confidence in our people to know that this occasion will be no exception to the rule. The crisis with which we are faced demands prompt and immediate measures and dissolution of Parliament at this stage, followed by a general election, would be disastrous. This fact dominates the situation at the moment."
"The only means by which the national emergency can be met is close cooperation between all the parties. For this purpose we Conservatives have considered, for a limited period of time, to enter a national government which will be formed for the express purpose of carrying out such measures as are required to balance the budget and restore confidence in our national credit, and there is no question of any permanent coalition."
"The national government has been allotted a definite task, and on its completion it is understood that Parliament be dissolved as soon as circumstances permit and that each of the parties be left free to place its own policy before the electors for approval."
"By this means no party will be called upon to sacrifice any principle in which it believes. But the gravity of the crisis is such that it is the bounden duty of everyone who studies the welfare of our country to put aside party differences for the time being and cooperate in the national interests. In that task we Conservatives will play our part boldly and courageously."

Accepts Request of King to Head New Ministry of Three Factions.

ROSTER IS EXPECTED TO BE FILLED TODAY

Leaders in Conference Set
September 8 Tentatively as Parliament Date.

London, Aug. 24 (A.P.).—Ramsay MacDonald's Socialist-Labor government passed into history today with the resignation of the prime minister and his cabinet.
Almost immediately after the cabinet resigned, King George V instructed MacDonald with the formation of a new national government composed of the leaders of all of the three major parties, whose business for the moment would be burying politics and extricating Great Britain from her economic and financial difficulties.
Tonight MacDonald, Stanley Baldwin and Sir Herbert Samuel, representing the Labor party, the Conservatives and the Liberals, were in close conference going over the possibilities of the personnel of the new government.
It was thought that at least by tomorrow or the next day a full cabinet roster can be presented to the king and sworn in.
Not the Usual Coalition.
An official statement issued from 10 Downing street tonight explained: "The specific object which the new government is being formed is to deal with the national emergency that now exists. It is not to be a coalition government in the usual sense of the term, but a government of cooperation for this one purpose. When that purpose is achieved the respective positions will resume their normal status."
"In order to correct without delay the excess of national expenditure over revenue, it is anticipated that Parliament will be summoned September 8, when proposals will be submitted to the house for a very large reduction in expenditure and for provision, on an equitable basis, of the further funds which will be required to balance the budget."
"As the commerce and well-being of not only of the British nation but of a large part of the civilized world has been built up and rests upon well-founded confidence in the pound sterling, the new government will take whatever steps may be deemed by them necessary to justify the maintenance of that confidence unimpaired."
MacDonald's Position Critical.
There were those here tonight who believed that the resignation of MacDonald's government might be political suicide for MacDonald and the Labor ministers who lost was cast with him. It was generally agreed that the Labor party, which has been in power since 1924, would be unable to function as an entity for some time to come. The belief also existed that today's events may mean the expulsion of MacDonald and his supporters from the Labor party.
Both praise and censure were heaped upon the gray head of the wiry Scotman tonight. In some labor quarters he was denounced as a traitor who had sold out the party for the good of the nation.
The new government, however, is expected to contain about twelve ministers, as compared to the twenty in an ordinary British administration. Among those who, it was believed, would hold all posts in the new government besides MacDonald are Stanley Baldwin, former premier and leader of the Conservatives; Lord Irwin, former Viceroy of India, who has been mentioned as a possible new foreign secretary; Sir Samuel Hoare, Sir Austin Chamberlain, Neville Chamberlain, former premier Lloyd George (if his health permits), Lord Balfour, Sir Herbert Samuel, Sir Donald MacLean, Philip Snowden and J. H. Thomas.

40,000 DEMAND END OF NEW YORK GANGS

Mass Meeting Shouts for Drastic Steps; Legion
Leader Menaced.

New York, Aug. 24 (A.P.).—A community shocked by repeated gang killings of innocent citizens roared and stamped its demand for a cessation of lawlessness in a dramatic mass meeting tonight in Madison Square Garden.
While speakers berated prohibition, criticized city officials and called for quick and drastic police activity against gangsters and racketeers before 20,000 persons within the hall another multitude even larger pressed against lines of police who barred them from an already overcrowded forum.
More than 250 policemen were detailed from other duty to control the clamoring crowd in three thoroughfares around the hall. The citizenry had responded to the call to attend the protest meeting in a degree that would have taxed the Central Park area originally designated for the assembly.
The scheduled speakers were Bainbridge Colby, former United States Secretary of State; United States Senator Robert F. Wagner, Police Commissioner Edward Mulrooney and Charles Francis Connel, a criminologist. However, it was Edward J. Neary, State commissioner of the American Legion, who sprang the sensation of the session when he announced from the platform that an hour before he left for the meeting his life had been threatened by an anonymous person if he went to the Garden.
Neary, leading a group of legion members, most of them in uniform mounted the platform and said:
"Just before I left home a man giving the name of 'Mr. Ely' called me on the telephone. He said, in a threatening voice:
"Stay away from that rally tonight if you know when you are well off. If you go, you will get yours—you'll be bumped off."
"That," shouted Neary, "is a sample of the kind of people you've got to deal with at this meeting."
While his followers roared and stood at attention Neary then formally placed at the disposal of the law enforcement authorities the services of

NYE BODY TO REOPEN BISHOP CASE TODAY

Inquiry Into Campaign Fund
Use Will Begin With Slump on Stand.

(Associated Press.)
The Senate campaign funds committee will resume today its inquiry into the use of anti-Smith funds by Bishop James Cannon in 1928. The hearings were advanced a day to permit examination of C. Bascom Slump, Republican national committeeman for Virginia and former secretary to President Coolidge. Mr. Slump plans to sail on Wednesday for France.
The committee is investigating the complaint of Representative Tinkham (Republican), of Massachusetts, that Bishop Cannon failed to account to Congress for all of the $65,800 entrusted to him as chairman of the anti-Smith drive in Virginia, in 1928, by E. C. Jamieson, New York capitalist.
On Wednesday the committee will begin questioning half a dozen local officials in an effort to locate Bishop Cannon's bank deposits during the 1928 campaign.
It was announced that H. G. Lull, treasurer of the Greater Washington Anti-Smith Democratic Club, has been subpoenaed, and also that Clarence True Wilson, head of the Board of Temperance and Morals of the Methodist Episcopal Church, was sought. Dr. Wilson sent word that he was detained on the Pacific Coast and he suggested that the committee call his associate, Deets Pickett.
London, Aug. 24 (A.P.).—Bishop James Cannon, Jr., of the Methodist Church South, in Europe on business in connection with missionary work in the Congo, said today he had no objection to investigation of his activities in the last presidential campaign by a properly constituted court. That he does not agree, however, that a Senate committee operating under no restrictions has a right to conduct an investigation concerning definite complaints of criminal conduct.

Justice Holmes Stricken At Massachusetts Home

Beverly Farms, Mass., Aug. 24 (U.P.).—Oliver Wendell Holmes, veteran member of the United States Supreme Court, has been ill at his residence here for the last two days, it was learned tonight.

The 90-year-old jurist, one of the more distinguished lawyers in the nation, was stricken with exhaustion Saturday.

Gifford Unhurt in Crash Of White House Auto

(Associated Press.)
The White House automobile which brought Walter S. Gifford back to Washington yesterday after his week-end at the President's Rapidan Camp was involved in a collision at Fairfax, Va. No one was hurt.

The car, carrying Gifford and Henry A. Robinson, of California, old friend of the President and Mr. Hoover, collided with a light automobile driven by William Square, of Warrenton, Va., at a street intersection. The car was slightly damaged. The White House machine overtook the others before they reached Washington.
Plea Sent Hoover
For Parley on Coal
Miners' Officers and Ohio
Business Men Join in Request.
Gloicester, Ohio, Aug. 24 (A.P.).—In a telegram addressed today to President Hoover, officers of the United Mine Workers asked him to call a national conference of coal operators and union representatives in an effort to bring stability to the industry.
The telegram was sent after Gloucester business and professional men met with Percy Tellow, Lee Hall and David Watkins, officials of the miners' union. The telegram read:
"A meeting of miners, business men, professional men and other citizens of Gloucester, Ohio, was held here and a resolution was unanimously adopted petitioning you to call a national conference of coal operators and representatives of the United Mine Workers of America to make an effort to bring stability to the distressed bituminous coal industry. The misery and poverty now existing among the miners and in mining communities demands at least a supreme effort to bring relief at the earliest possible moment."

FLOOD REFUGEES DIE IN CHINESE TYPHOON

Tempest in Yangtze Valley
Perils Relief Workers;
Cities Menaced.

Hankow, Tuesday, Aug. 25 (U.P.).—A typhoon-like storm today swept the desolate Yangtze valley region, where countless thousands of dead and dying were left in the wake of China's most disastrous flood.
Hundreds of refugees who had barely escaped the flood's ravages were drowned as the tempest struck the devastated region. Descending with terrific force, the storm demolished thousands of houses and hundreds of sampans, tore down fences and high walls, uprooted trees and sent a new wave of terror through the scutty-suffering region.
The storm had not diminished in intensity at 10 a. m.
The vast flooded area resembled a storm-tossed sea. Ships bearing refugees and relief workers through the once populous valley were imperiled.
Typhoon signals were flying along the river from Shanghai to Shansi, and heavy rains threatened to increase the suffering.
Hankow, Aug. 24 (A.P.).—Apprehensive residents today felt a storm would complete the doom of the three cities, Hansyang, Wuhsang, and Hankow, by blowing such volumes of water against them that undermined foundations would be certain to collapse.
More than 400,000 refugees are clinging to a precarious existence on the islanded crests of two hills behind Wuhsang. Forced to drink the polluted waters of the swollen streams, the refugees, crowded together like sheep, are ravaged by fever and dysentery.
In the native section of this city, hunger crazed refugees quartered in

FRANCE ACTS ALONE ON PACT WITH ITALY

New Memorandum Withheld
From Britain and U. S.
Until Next Week.

Paris, Aug. 24 (U.P.).—The government sent a new memorandum to Italy today in connection with resumption of negotiations for a naval limitations agreement, which will be on a strictly bilateral basis.
The manner in which the new negotiations were started shows that France wants other countries to stay out of the discussions. British representatives aided in three-party negotiations which were supposed to have settled the Franco-Italian controversy last spring, but which later collapsed.
The new memorandum will form the basis for resuming conversations between French and Italian statesmen at Geneva during the September League of Nations meetings. Foreign Minister Aristide Briand probably will take a leading role in the discussions, conferring with Foreign Minister Dino Grandi of Italy.
The memorandum will not be communicated to Great Britain or the United States until next week because of France's desire to keep the matter a strictly two-power problem. Rene Massigli, the French naval expert, and several other naval authorities will accompany the French League of Nations delegation to Geneva to participate in the negotiations.
There was a general belief that the chances for success of the negotiations have increased recently. Both countries have shown a willingness to reach an agreement which would cut down the expense of their navies. It is generally admitted that such an accord is necessary for success of the 1932 general disarmament conference at Geneva.

Man Steals Plane to Kidnap His 2 Children From Wife

Independence, Calif., Aug. 24 (U.P.).—A house painter driven to desperation by marital troubles set out on a wild flight from Bishop in a stolen airplane today, taking with him the two children a court had entrusted to his estranged wife. The man, Henry Billingsley, 49, of Lone Pine, abducted the children from their mother's home while she was at work.
Tonight, after many hours of search, the red and silver plane Billingsley took from an airport at Bishop, was found abandoned 2 miles south of Lone Pine. Lone Pine is 16 miles south of Independence.
Billingsley took up aviation two months ago as a means of getting the children away from his wife.
There was no indication of the direction taken by Billingsley and the children, Jean, 8, and Harry, 5.
"We are sending out a party to start a ground search," it was announced at the sheriff's office here.

Scores Enter Boats As Vessel Grounds Several Yachts Flounder, Struck by Steamer in Martha Vineyard.

Vineyard Haven, Mass., Aug. 24 (U.P.).—Nearly three score of persons, including 28 passengers, took to lifeboats late tonight when the steamship Naushon, plying between New Bedford and islanded Martha Vineyard, ran aground during a squall.
The passengers and crew of the Naushon—a small steam vessel piloted by Capt. Webster Gifford—were brought ashore and carried from the boats by Coast Guardsmen from several stations.
The 200-foot coastal schooner Alice Wentworth was damaged considerably when the Naushon tipped into her. The 60-foot pleasure yacht Selkade, owned by Calvin G. Child, of New York, was overturned as the Naushon drifted helplessly toward the mainland. Several small pleasure boats floundered when hit by the steamer.

101 Ranch Show Train Reaches Home at Last

Ponca City, Okla., Aug. 24 (A.P.). The train bringing the 101 Ranch Wild West Show home from Washington, D. C., arrived here tonight and continued to Marland, Okla., to unload.
Col. Zack Miller, head of the ranch and the show, announced that 170 employees who came from Washington would be allowed to spend the night on the train, but would have to leave tomorrow. Col. Miller said there were 18 "loyal employees" on the train.

Congress Accepts Ayora's
Resignation; Washington Not Advised.

Quito, Ecuador, Aug. 24 (A.P.).—President Ildaro Ayora of Ecuador resigned tonight, shortly after he had accepted the resignation of his cabinet.
The president presented his resignation to congress and it was accepted with only one negative vote, cast by Ingeniero Manuel Navarro, president of the chamber of deputies.
Previously the entire cabinet had resigned and President Ayora had appointed Col. Luis Larrea Alba as minister of government.
The decree naming Col. Larrea Alba had been read to the people, who shouted protests. A crowd swept past a guard, entered the halls of Congress, and shouted, "Down with the government of Col. Larrea Alba!"
At the time the cabinet's resignations were presented, a delegation of officers of the Chimborazo Battalion

TWO TOWNS IN IDAHO
DOOMED BY FLAMES

Guardsmen Sent to Fight
Forest Fires as Peril
Grows Graver.

Boise, Idaho, Aug. 24 (A.P.)—Hope of saving the towns of Grimes Pass and Pionerville from the raging forest fires of central Idaho waned today as rising winds fanned the flames.

Dr. C. C. Fairchild at Pionerville reported the situation "looks very bad." He said the wind was blowing hard and that the fire fighters were short of water pumps to combat the creeping flames.

Three pumps went out of commission along the fire front today and more were sent from this city. Failure of the equipment at this critical moment seriously handicapped the efforts of the 600 men combating the flames along a 40-mile front.

John Bourn and a man named Shannahan were caught between the main fire near Pionerville and a backfire near the Comeback mine. They fled from their automobile when flames blocked the road and escaped on foot. The machine was consumed.

One hundred Idaho National Guardsmen, ordered out by Gov. C. Ben Ross, joined the firefighters to-day.

Refugees flocked into camps established for them. Virtually all mines in the basin have been deserted by workmen and their families.

When Washington Was Younger—No. 24

It doesn't look much like this today, but this is the Washington Monument when it was less than a third complete. The Washington Monument was planned during the forties and the corner stone was laid in 1848. Work on the structure was not completed, however, until 1884. The Monument and the Capitol, it may be noted, parenthetically, were originally taken as the keynotes for building heights in the city. Work on the Monument was begun with $87,000 collected by popular subscription. The monument cap, which is the apex of the shaft, was placed in position in October, 1884, and on February 21, 1885, the completed Monument was at last dedicated.

DOLLAR OIL POSTED;
WELLS REMAIN SHUT

Delay Met in Midcontinent
Area in Reopening of Valves of Gushers.

Oklahoma City, Aug. 24 (A.P.)—Honoring again with actual dollar oil, the midcontinent area faced a delay tonight in orders to reopen its sleeping gushers.

Although the $1 per barrel top price was made effective in Oklahoma and Kansas by the Phillips Petroleum Co., and reported promptly by two unnamed concerns, governors of three States were not ready to order valves twisted open in oil fields. Instead, the shutdown of wells, enforced by martial law in Oklahoma and east Texas, spread to a major Kansas area.

The dollar level was the primary goal of the shutdown movement, but both Gov. Murray of Oklahoma and Gov. Woodring of Kansas indicated curb orders would remain in force until the price is general. Gov. Sterling of Texas said martial law in that State's new fields would not be affected by the present higher prices.

Kansas operators in the Ritz-Ganton pool, producing an estimated fifth of the State's daily output, closed all but that and water wells under an order of the Kansas Public Service Commission.

POSTAL WAGE CUT
SUGGESTION FOUGHT

Clerks Also Will Oppose
Brown's Alternative,
Postage Raise.

By J. R. McDONNELL.
Political Washington yesterday was waiting to see what would be the sequel to a speech made in Los Angeles Friday by Postmaster General Walter Brown in the course of which he suggested cutting salaries of postal employees as a means of reducing the $150,000,000 postal service deficit.

Reports of the Postmaster General's speech, delivered before the convention of the National Rural Carriers Association, were received here with considerable surprise. His suggestion that a salary cut might be employed to meet the deficit was in marked contrast to the recent speech by Assistant Secretary of the Navy Johnnie, in which he advocated adoption of the five-day work week.

Alternatives Are Given.
Of much greater significance, however, was the fact that Mr. Brown should even suggest a wage cut for the postal service in view of the unswerving efforts of the President to persuade private industry not to cut wages.

Mr. Brown did not advocate a reduction in wages, but he pitched his suggestion in a key which would favor for such a course in the minds of an economically depressed country. It was either a reduction in wages or an increase in postal rates, Mr. Brown is reported to have told the carriers. Perhaps the Postmaster General merely was trying to emphasize to the carriers the importance of their support for his plan to increase postal rates.

To Fight Both Plans.
Thomas H. Flaherty, secretary-treasurer of the National Federation of Postoffice Clerks, jumped into the discussion yesterday with the declaration that the organization not only would oppose any suggestion of a wage reduction, but would also vigorously oppose any proposal to increase postal rates. Furthermore, Mr. Flaherty said, the federation is meeting in annual convention in Los Angeles on September 7 and would then formally on record about the matter.

Higher first-class postal rates, Mr. Flaherty said, would decrease the volume of mail and thereby decrease the amount of work to be done and the number of persons employed to do it.

What we want, Mr. Flaherty said, was more work and more money for the substitute carriers, many of whom are earning but little at present, due to the falling off in mailings.

DO-X Owner Plans
U. S. Goodwill Tour

German Company to Pass on Projected Trip;
Poised at Miami.

Miami, Fla., Aug. 24 (A.P.)—With the seaplane DO-X in trim for tomorrow's scheduled flight to New York, officers of the vessel today discussed a projected goodwill tour of the Eastern seaboard and the Middle West before a return flight to Germany. Final plans were not announced and are subject to confirmation by officials of the Dornier Co.

The DO-X was groomed today for the last hop of its aerial aragony over four continents. The airplane's twelve motors are scheduled to lift it from the waters of Biscayne Bay into the air at 7 o'clock tomorrow.

A final check-up, after the plane's 4,220-gallon tanks were replenished with gasoline, showed it to be in good condition for the New York hop. The DO-X arrived here Saturday from South America.

Farm Board, No Doubt,
Sees Ships as Luxuries

By JOHN J. DALY

WHEN the Farm Board traded 25,000,000 bushels of American wheat for 1,050,000 bags of Brazilian coffee, it was like the boy who swapped an extra jack knife for a huckleberry pie. He got what he wanted.

The lost art of trading—an old American custom that went out of fashion with David Harum—seemed on the point of revival, and the Farm Board got credit for a smart deal.

Then some one remembered that the only way to get wheat to Brazil and coffee to America is by the open sea—and the American Steamship Owners Association casually asked who was awarded the shipping contract.

It developed that British bottoms probably will get the right of way over American ships. It seems that Old Glory has been once more frustrated on the high seas. Great is the dissatisfaction among members of the Farm Board, landlubbers all, who have had thrust upon them the problems of seafaring men. It doesn't seem quite fair.

What with cotton, and wheat, and peanuts, the Farm Board has enough to do on shore, without jumping into the sea. How can these men of the soil think in terms of sea tonnage when all their attention is centered on bales and bushels of wheat, pounds of coffee?

"I care not who ships the crops of my country, so long as I can make 'em grow," said an old plantation owner years ago.

"We trade 'em, we don't ship 'em," says the Farm Board, calling upon the United States Shipping Board to look after the maritime interests of the Nation.

There is poetry in the spread of a sail and music in the splash of billows against the side of a ship; but the Farm Board, concerned more with wind-mills and men walking in furrows, behind plows, knows naught of this.

Curtis Says Country
Holds Old Time Faith

Atlantic City, N. J., Aug. 24 (A.P.)—Vice President Charles Curtis tonight pictured the country as holding unswervingly to its "old-time faith" in the home as the true center of family life, and in religion as the true salvation of man.

Speaking at the convention of the Loyal Order of Moose, he said, "It is a great privilege to be a citizen of this Nation of home-loving, and home-building people who firmly believe that a closely united home of husband, wife and children is God's best gift to man," he said.

SECRETARY MELLON
RETURNS TO CAPITAL

Treasury Head, Rested by Trip Abroad, Faced by Grave Problems.

(United Press.)
Secretary of Treasury Mellon slipped quietly back in the Capital last night from his European trip to meet a trying fiscal situation that will keep him engaged from now through the next session of Congress.

He will find on his desk today a whole series of problems having to do with the deficit, with the budget, which must be kept down to a minimum, and with the public building program which must be speeded up to give work to the unemployed.

Thorough Study Urged.
With revenues dwindling, the certainty of a large deficit and administration opposition to a tax increase Mr. Mellon will resort to two lines of policy to conserve the Government's finances.

The first is to hold expenditures to a minimum. He will study of proposed appropriations submitted by Government bureaus, to the Budget Bureau, and endeavor to trim them still further.

Since the administration is opposed to a tax increase at this time, Mr. Mellon will institute one or two long-term bond issues to refund the huge outstanding short-term indebtedness.

Cut by Glass.
New York, Aug. 24 (A.P.)—Home from Europe today on the liner Conte Biancamano, Secretary of the Treasury Andrew W. Mellon brought his annual vacation to a close with participation in a "rumrunner's" confabulation and a conference at the Federal Reserve Bank.

Mr. Mellon's first excitement occurred near the Statue of Liberty. He found reporters and photographers awaiting him when the Italian liner slowed down at Quarantine. As he turned to face the camera battery a flash-light bulb, one of the safety kind, blew up, the particles of glass showering the Secretary.

The injury he suffered was a slight cut on the right hand, which he minimized.

Seized Auto Used.
Secretary Mellon rode to the Battery on the Coast Guard cutter Ma-hattan. His second adventure came at the baggage office, when it was found no automobile had been provided to take him up.

While he waited, officials scurried around, one of them finally appearing with a dilapidated car. Mr. Mellon entered the vehicle although told it had been seized for illegal transportation of liquor.

The Secretary was driven to the Federal Reserve Bank and was joined there by Undersecretary Mellon, Secretary Mellon and Mr. Mills were in conference for more than an hour with George L. Harrison, Federal Reserve governor for New York. The Secretary declined to say what they discussed.

From other sources it was learned the conference concerned the financial crisis in Great Britain. It was in this discussion that Mr. Mellon came to New York today from Washington.

Out there somewhere upon the sea the ships are waiting patiently for cargoes from the farm. And what the life sailors' hum, just listen to the risin' hum. They'll never come to harm.

This seems to be the policy of the Farm Board—to keep the sailors off the dangerous sea, away from storm and shipwreck. It is a known fact that the American Navy, as well as the Merchant Marine, is mostly manned by the farm hands from the Middle West. Half the sailors in the North Atlantic fleet can not swim a stroke or trim a sail. They walk pretty well behind a plow, or did, and they do a smart job in hysteronizing the decks; but nature never meant them for the sea as she did the Vikings of old.

HERE, undoubtedly, is the explanation of the Farm Board's refusal to provide American tonnage for American wheat. The idea is to keep American farm hands, masquerading as deck hands, off the treacherous and trackless ocean, and start them back where they belong—on the farm.

Their thoughts ever turned to harvest time, members of the Farm Board see only waving meadows of wheat and alfalfa; fields of cotton and tobacco. They have none of the smell of the sea in their nostrils, being fillers of the soil; first cousins of the roanoke that lurks in the hearts of men who go down to the sea in ships?

What do they, who were raised by Mother Ceres, care for Father Neptune? They inherited the earth, and not the waters under the earth. Let the sailors go round the Horn, to Needles and Berdoe, and sail their ships in the straits at Singapore. The Farm Board has work at home trading wheat for coffee, cotton for rice from the paddy fields, and peanuts for pop corn, chewing gum and candy.

Every man to his trade—the sailor to his ship and the Farm Board to the farm.

Brazil Deal Said

make any public statements in connection with the $2,000,000 blunder. Privately, however, they insisted that a member of the Federal Farm Board should be sent to Brazil to be asked to look out for the interests of American steamship owners in any deal that the Farm Board might make with foreign countries.

Mr. Duff, attorney for the American Steamship Owners Association, said that he had heard that the wheat and coffee deal between the United States and Brazil was in the making more than a month ago. At that time, he said, he saw a member of the Shipping Board and asked him to urge the Federal Farm Board to give American ships preference in the transportation phase of the deal.

The Post knows that a member of the Shipping Board took the matter up with a member of the Farm Board back in July.

Hoover's Help Sought.
Mr. Duff said yesterday that the American Steamship Owners Association had wired President Hoover from New York, urging him to have the United States-Brazil deal reopened with the idea of guaranteeing to American vessels at least the business of hauling the 25,000,000 bushels of wheat to Brazil.

Mr. Arledge said that the Middle West Foreign Trade Committee had sent a telegram to President Hoover.

Theodore Joslin, secretary to President Hoover, announced at 4 o'clock yesterday that no telegram had been received.

That the present controversy will be echoed in Congress next winter of instance, Mr. Joslin said, who members—a representative and a senator—sharply criticized the Federal Farm Board for failing to take American vessels into consideration in its deal with Brazil.

Says Act's Spirit Is Violated.
Representative Frank Bowman (Republican), of West Virginia, a member of the House merchant marine committee, said that the transaction was in direct violation of the spirit of the 1928 merchant marine act, which, he said, requires that the American Government give preference to ships of American registry.

"If," said Representative Bowman, "administrative officers of the Government can not be relied upon to carry out the intent of the act, it is necessary for Congress to be more specific and more drastic as to what shall be done in this respect."

Senator Duncan W. Fletcher (Democrat), of Florida, said that the failure of the Farm Board to look after the interests of American steamship men was "most unfortunate." He pointed out that American ships could have carried the wheat and coffee at rates just as low as those of any foreign line.

Chairman Stone said yesterday that the Federal Farm Board would endeavor to have American ships given preference in the shipment of American wheat to China.

Brazil's Consent Needed.
Commenting on the wheat-coffee deal with Brazil, he expressed the opinion that this could not be reopened unless Brazil is willing.

"I am interested in helping American shipping all I can, but, as you know, we have a good many troubles of our own. During the negotiations with Brazil, representatives of the country referred repeatedly to shipping the coffee to the United States in Brazilian boats and transporting the wheat back in the American ships. The thing which interested the Farm Board most was in not paying the freight for either the coffee or the wheat. Since the Brazilian government was to bear the cost of transportation and storage, naturally the methods of transportation were left to that government.

"In our conversations the board was led to understand that Brazil would use its own boats to transport the coffee to the United States and bring back the wheat in exchange."

Board Considers Loans
To Buy Wheat for Feed
(Associated Press.)

The Farm Board is considering a plan which may produce a partial solution for two of its urgent problems. It is studying a proposal under which Government loans would enable the farmers of the Northwestern drought area to buy surplus wheat at low cost and feed to their livestock during the coming winter. A decision may be announced today.

Chairman Stone has issued orders that millions of bushels of stabilization wheat be stored in the affected States—North and South Dakota, Montana, Nebraska and others close by—shall not be removed. He pointed out that large savings in freight charges would make possible a lower price to the farmer purchaser.

Meanwhile, negotiations for the purchase of wheat by China for the relief of flood sufferers seemed to have struck a snag. A Hankow dispatch said the National Flood Relief Commission's finance committee had decided to ask for more favorable terms of interest rates than were first mentioned. The negotiations are being conducted by the Grain Stabilization Corporation. The quantity involved is at least 15,000,000 bushels.

New Attack on Repeal
By 'Pussyfoot' Johnson
(Associated Press.)

William E. ("Pussyfoot") Johnson yesterday attacked an "absurd" assertion that repeal of the prohibition laws would alleviate the economic depression.

The member of the World League Against Alcoholism contended the result of prohibition repeal would be to divert from legitimate trade billions of dollars in order that a handful of brewers, distillers, wine men and saloon keepers can live in the style to which they were once accustomed.

Albany Lines Down In Effort at Relief

Leaders of Both Parties in Accord With Governor
on Eve of Session.

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 24 (A.P.).—Gov. Roosevelt and party leaders are prepared to ask the extraordinary session of the New York Legislature, which meets tomorrow, to enact unemployment relief legislation to provide the State's 1,000,000 idle men and women with part-time jobs.

The governor, spokesmen of his party and Republican chiefs of both houses are in accord that relief measures must make it possible for those without employment to work. The governor is expected to ask the Legislature to find new sources of revenue through additional taxes and to extend the time for which cities may borrow money for welfare work.

It is understood law-making leaders favor leaving the details of welfare work to cities and counties, the State providing the money and new statutes to make the undertaking easier. Conservative estimates show that $30,000,000 will be needed to provide existence wages for families now in distress.

Hospital attaches notified police when they were unable to ascertain the name of the physician or drug agency from whom the woman obtained the tablets, but the coroner's certificate was issued after it had been established that the overdose was a mistake and that the real cause of the death was the natural illness.

"TOASTING" expels SHEEP-DIP BASE naturally present in every tobacco leaf

(Black, biting, harsh irritant chemicals)

"They're out—so they can't be in!"

Every LUCKY STRIKE is made of the finest tobacco leaves the world can offer—the finest from Turkey—the finest from Kentucky, Tennessee, Virginia, Georgia and the Carolinas—the Cream of many Crops throughout the world. But all tobacco leaves, regardless of price and kind, as nature produces them, contain harsh irritants. LUCKY STRIKE'S exclusive "TOASTING" Process—a process that mellows, that purifies, that includes the use of the modern Ultra Violet Ray—expels certain harsh irritants naturally present in every tobacco leaf. We sell these expelled irritants to manufacturers of chemical compounds, who use them as a base in making sheep-dip*, as well as a powerful spraying solution for trees, flowers and shrubs—enough to permit the daily dipping of over 50,000 sheep or the daily spraying of many thousands of trees. Thus, you are sure these irritants, naturally present in all tobacco leaves, are not in your LUCKY STRIKE. "They're out—so they can't be in!" No wonder LUCKIES are always kind to your throat.

BRIDE'S FATAL FALL LAID TO NAVY PARTY

San Francisco Police Say Mrs. Price Admitted It Was Her Fault.

San Francisco, Aug. 24 (A.P.).—Police reported today a drinking party at the hotel room of Mrs. Daisy Price, bride of Lieut. Comdr. George D. Price, U. S. N., preceded her fatal plunge from a fourth story window of the Alexander Hamilton Hotel, early yesterday.

In a dying statement Mrs. Price, a bride of six weeks, told Assistant District Attorney Walter Schiller: "It was my fault."

Burton Templeton, another guest at the hotel, said he saw Mrs. Price go through the window. He rushed downstairs and asked her if she fell or was thrown. Templeton told police she said she was thrown, and that when he asked who did it she replied "I'd rather not say."

Allen McGinn, head of the police homicide squad said: "I am not at all satisfied with the conflicting stories told by persons at the drinking party in Mrs. Price's room."

In addition to the police investigation, a naval board of inquiry, the coroner's office and the Federal prohibition administrator were making separate investigations.

The coroner's autopsy surgeon, Dr. A. A. Berger, disposed of a theory that poison liquor had killed Mrs. Price. No trace of poison was found at an autopsy.

The prohibition department, W. G. Walker, administrator said, will try to learn the source of the liquor consumed at the party. The coroner will hold an inquest at 10 a. m. tomorrow.

The last person known to have been in Mrs. Price's room, Inspector McGinn said, is Lieut. D. R. Downer, Jr., a young aviator in Price's command aboard the air craft carrier Lexington. Along with other navy officers and their wives, Downer said he was in Mrs. Price's room until a late hour. A hotel boy said Downer left a half hour before Mrs. Price's plunge.

Quarrel Is Investigated.

Captain of inspectors, Charles Dulma, said he was investigating a report that Mrs. Price had had a violent quarrel with another woman earlier in the evening.

Commander Price was not at the party, as he was on duty on the Lexington, but he knew the party was to be held. Mrs. Price had visited her husband on the Lexington Saturday afternoon and left with Downer. Mr. Price said to Downer, "Look after Mrs. Price," and had them good-by, promising to see them next day.

Mrs. Price was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Henry, of Charleston, W. Va. She was married to Commander Price at Coronado, Calif., June 7. She came here recently to be with her husband while the fleet is in port.

20 Naval Seaplanes
To Fly to Canal Zone

(Associated Press.)
Twenty new naval patrol seaplanes will be flown from Hampton Roads to the fleet air base at Coco Solo, Canal Zone, in groups of three or four, beginning August 28.

The planes, just completed by the Glenn L. Martin Co., Baltimore, will serve as replacements, and will be attached to the aircraft tender Wright, operating from Coco Solo. The first group will be piloted by Lieut. A. E. Dupuy, W. F. Rodde and C. K. Langford.

Chinese Flood Aid Greater
Task Than Post-War Relief

Witness in Plane Describes Inland Sea Raging Around Thousands of Hilltops, Each Crowded by Refugees Doomed Beyond Help.

Hankow, Aug. 24 (A.P.).—Something like a transoceanic flight, especially above Nanking, was experienced by this correspondent, who flew today from Shanghai to Hankow.

Central China lies beneath a tideless sea. Between Nanking and the stricken cities of Hankow, Wuchang and HanYang, waters stretch as far as the eye can reach. Banks are unobstructed over countless villages and hundreds of small towns which lie beneath the muddy waters.

It is a spectacle both magnificent and appalling. Magnificent, for it is a sea of 10,000 islands, every Yangtze hilltop having become an islet; it is appalling because each islet bears numbers of refugees trapped probably beyond aid.

The plane flew low over a typical island covered with swarms of people virtually unprotected against a pillage and fire. They were apparently without food, and obviously their only drink was the yellow water which the wind whipped into waves that broke about the refugees' feet. They were without boats, and apparently were without hope of escaping.

Along the plane's trail thousands were marooned similarly. A large proportion are probably doomed unless relief measures, which are not yet in sight, are organized quickly. It would require 1,000 powerful motor boats, working together with ships stationed at intervals between Nanking and

COAL BECOMES GOAL OF SOVIET EFFORTS

Industry Is Held Backward When Compared With Wheat Raising.

Moscow, Aug. 24 (U.P.).—The production of coal replaced wheat-growing today as the most vital element to the success of the Soviet five-year plan.

The central committee of the Communist party warned the nation that the coal industry was backward compared to agriculture and ordered energetic measures to increase the output of the mines.

At least 800,000,000 rubles (nominally $450,000,000) will be invested in the next year to expand the coal industry. Production must reach 140,000,000 tons in 1935, the committee said. That amount will supply the national needs.

Fifteen machine plants henceforth will be devoted exclusively to producing mining equipment. Five additional such factories will be built this year.

"Like grain production several years ago, coal now becomes the most important political and economic problem," the committee said. "Unless it is solved the speedy tempo of socialist construction is impossible."

Another statement issued by the committee said the principal grain-growing regions of the Soviet Union have been officially designated as "completely collectivized."

The statement did not mean that all private farming had been eliminated, but for official purposes a territory is completely collectivized when more than 68 per cent of the agrarian households and more than 75 per cent of the planted acreage are on a collective basis. The designation gives the territory special practical privileges in such things as credits, machinery and other government assistance.

TOKYO TO OVERLOOK LINDBERGH'S ERRORS

Forced Landings in Areas Barred to Fliers Are Held Justifiable.

Tokyo, Aug. 24 (A.P.).—Forced landings recently by Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh in prohibited areas of the Kurile Islands caused reports to circulate today that the Japanese government's suspicions had been aroused by high officials quickly denied the reports.

They said it was natural three unscheduled landings in the Kuriles by the famous fliers should cause discussion in certain quarters. But, fully aware of the dense fog conditions along the volcanic group, which twice cut short the attempted trans-Pacific flight of the Japanese flier, Seiji Yoshikawa, the officials disclaimed disapproval of the Lindberghs alighting in unauthorized places.

Reports Gain Credence.

For a time, the report of adverse opinion regarding the Lindberghs gained some credence, following so shortly after the Japanese government's heavy fining of Hugh Herndon and Clyde Pangborn, American fliers, who took photographs of Japanese fortifications.

Realizing the difficulty of the fog-hidden course, Col. Lindbergh before leaving Petropavlovsk, Kamchatska, Wednesday, for Nemuro, Japan, requested the Japanese government to designate emergency landing places. But even his skill was insufficient to locate these places, and he and his wife were compelled to land as near as possible to them three times before completing the 897-mile flight to Nemuro today.

3,000 Cheer Fliers.

Nemuro, Japan, Aug. 24 (A.P.).—Welcomed today by 3,000 Japanese who applauded their flight from Petropavlovsk along the fog-obscured volcanic Kurile Islands, Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh prepared to complete their 1,132-mile flight from New York to Tokyo Wednesday.

Only 613 miles lie before them to the Kaumigaura naval landing field, near the Japanese capital, but they decided to remain here over tomorrow out of respect for three Japanese fliers killed at the field Saturday.

New York, Aug. 24 (U.P.).—The reception to Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh by Japanese government officials in Tokyo will be broadcast in this country, the Columbia Broadcasting Co. announced today.

Herndon and Pangborn
Flight Permit Asked

(Associated Press.)
The American Embassy in Tokyo has filed an application with the Japanese government for a permit for Hugh Herndon, Jr., and Clyde Pangborn, American aviators, to fly across the Pacific from that country.

Ambassador Forbes informed the State Department yesterday that the embassy had urged speedy action on the application and expected to receive early favorable action. Herndon and Pangborn, after the failure of an attempted round-the-world flight, flew over Japan. They were heavily for taking unauthorized photographs of Japanese fortified areas.

REVOLT NOT ENDED, CUBAN LEADERS SAY

Insurgents Still Willing But Face Task of Smuggling in Arms, Is Report.

Havana, Aug. 24 (A.P.).—Leaders of the revolt against the regime of President Gerardo Machado insisted tonight the revolution was far from crushed, although no serious clashes were reported today and, in spite of scattered fighting in Oriente Province, the belief had been expressed in other quarters that the uprising was close to an end.

One of the leaders of the revolt, however, said today that continuance of the movement depends on ability of the rebels to organize and smuggle additional ammunition into Cuba.

Willingness to continue is not lacking, he said, and the insurgents are in better position financially than the government.

He said there were at least three more expeditionary forces waiting for a suitable moment to land on the Cuban coast and repeat what the expedition which led the fighting at Gibara last week did.

Services of more than 1,000 mercenaries, principally American former army men who know how to direct untrained recruits from the countryside and handle modern guns of larger type, have been contracted for, he said.

Marine Airman and Aid

Corinto, Nicaragua, Aug. 24 (U.P.).—Seven men, including a United States Marine, were killed today when their airplane crashed while landing among a herd of cattle in a field. The landing gear of the plane was broken and it turned over.

Durand Leaves Capital
To Sail for New Post

(Associated Press.)
Manuel Durand, former assistant commercial attaché at the Argentine Embassy, left Washington last night for Jersey City, where his family awaits him.

With Senora De Durand and their son, Charles, he will sail from New York Wednesday for France. Driving through northern France to Paris, the family will spend a week in Paris before continuing to Marseille, where Durand will be in charge of the consulate.

Bomb Guilt Confessed.
Buenos Aires, Aug. 24 (U.P.).—The presidential palace today said that four alleged anarchists had confessed to the recent bomb explosion at the home of Jose Blanch, Conservative leader in the Town of Bragado, which killed Blanch's small daughter and his sister-in-law.

Newspaper to Liquidate.
Santiago, Chile, Aug. 24 (U.P.).—A congressional committee today sent a bill to the Chamber of Deputies authorizing the government to liquidate the newspaper La Nacion, which was closed recently.

TYPHOON AMID FLOOD
KILLS MORE CHINESE

A large warehouse, attacked a detail of soldiers who had begun to remove a quantity of grain stored there. The soldiers summoned reinforcements and the crowd was quelled by the use of machine guns. Several of the refugees were wounded.

Thousands of corpses daily float down the main channel of this stream into an immense lake forming between Hankow and Nanking.

In portions of this city the stench is almost unbearable. Hordes of mosquitoes attack the miserable, unclad refugees, spreading malaria and other diseases.

The National Flood Relief Commission's finance committee decided today to ask Washington for more favorable terms on the rate of interest and length of credit offered China for the purchase of wheat held by the United States Farm Board.

Capt. Phillips Brought To Hospital by Plane

Capt. Thomas Phillips, of the Chemical Warfare Service, U. S. A., was rushed to Walter Reed Hospital yesterday from Elmira, N. Y., for treatment for injuries sustained in a glider accident about ten days ago at that place.

The trip to Washington was made in the face of unfavorable flying conditions, but it was said at the Army Medical Center last night that the patient stood the trip well. He was accompanied in the plane by his 10-year-old son, Thomas, Jr., his wife coming here by train. The trip was made from Mitchell Field, Long Island. He is the third patient brought to Washington within the past six weeks in an airplane.

LEA JURY ORDERED
LOCKED IN FOR NIGHT

Panel Is Given Bank Fraud Case After Five Hours' Charge by Judge.

Asheville, N. C., Aug. 24 (A.P.).—Judge V. M. Barnhill ordered the jury considering the case of Col. Luke Lea, Tennessee publisher, and three others, charged with defrauding the Central Bank & Trust Co. of Asheville of $1,800,000, locked up for the night at 8:30 p. m.

Judge Barnhill, in announcing that no verdict would be received tonight, said he was ordering the jury locked up early because its members were weary after sitting on the case since July 27 and probably wanted to retire to resume their deliberations tomorrow.

The case was given to the jury of Haywood County citizens at 4:28 o'clock this afternoon after Judge Barnhill, at a special term of Buncombe County Superior Court, had consumed five hours and three minutes in delivering his charge.

Col. Lea, his son, Luke Lea, Jr., and E. P. Chariot, a Lea employe, all of Nashville, and Wallace B. Davis, president of the bank, were placed on trial June 27 on charges of defrauding the bank, now defunct, and conspiring to defraud it.

GREAT BRITAIN'S CRISIS.

The dole and free trade have brought Great Britain face to face with financial collapse. Prime Minister MacDonald, after wrestling with members of his cabinet and the Labor party, who resisted every attempt to cut down the dole, resigned yesterday, and was asked by the king to form a coalition ministry whose duty it shall be to balance the budget. A deficit of $600,000,000 must be made up, under penalty of the breakdown of the pound sterling, abandonment of the gold standard and the threat of panic.

Leaders of the Conservative and Liberal parties have signified their willingness to serve under Prime Minister MacDonald. The coalition cabinet is expected to include several of these leaders.

The situation that confronts Great Britain is so menacing that party differences are subordinated for the time being, in a heroic effort to stave off disaster. There is reason to believe that a program has been agreed upon which will be placed before Parliament and forced through by a combination of the parties.

Mr. MacDonald stood fixedly for reduction of the dole and for the imposition of a revenue tariff. Both of these steps must be taken if the deficit is to be wiped out. Labor members of his cabinet opposed one or the other, or both. Apparently no one in any party advocated naval economy by suspending the building of new warships.

The percentage that will be cut from the dole has not been made public, and it is possible that other sources of revenue will be found which will make it unnecessary to make a drastic reduction in the dole. Many holders of government bonds are willing to accept a reduction in the rate of interest. The necessity of collecting revenue from a tariff on imports is now generally acknowledged. The fact that such a tariff tends to protect British industry and workingmen against dangerous foreign competition is beginning to sink into the British consciousness, now that industry is unable to hold even the domestic market after having lost much of the foreign market.

Prime Minister MacDonald has insisted that "equal sacrifice from all must be the rule to be applied in wiping out the deficit. This rule would require a reduction in the dole, and might include a scaling down of interest rates on outstanding government securities.

The British government was widely criticized five years ago when it pegged the pound sterling at par, with the help of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York. The New York concern pledged itself to purchase British paper to the extent of $500,000,000, if necessary, and upon this artificial basis England managed to hold the pound at par. France, in the meantime, reorganized its finances with the value of the franc fixed at 4 cents in gold, instead of 20 cents. Ever since that time Great Britain has been in difficulties and France has prospered. The stock of gold in the Bank of England is less than $800,000,000, while France holds at least 50 per cent more. Some of the gold in the Bank of England belongs to France, and is subject to withdrawal upon demand. The Bank of France and the Federal Reserve Bank recently lent support to the Bank of England when the pound sterling began to waver. That the Bank of England is hard pressed is well understood, and this fact, with all its dire implications, doubtless accounts for the readiness of all party leaders in England to cooperate in organizing an emergency government.

United States Government officials who are best informed regarding the British situation are puzzled by the failure of the MacDonald government to economize on the navy. Since the British navy is already much stronger than any other, it is strange that the estimates for new construction should not be pruned in the effort to balance the budget. Yet no mention has been made of any move for economy in that direction. Apparently those in authority in Britain will take still greater risks before they will abandon the false position which Great Britain is attempting to hold, in spite of the vital changes that have impaired her standing as a world power. Britain still tries to persuade herself that she leads the world in finance and upon the seas, when inexorable fate has wrested one of these advantages from her and is at work upon the other.

It is not according to nature that the United States should go to a dangerous extent in contributing to the hopeless effort of Great Britain to retain mastery of finance and mastery of the seas. The nations will find their own level according to their strength.

SAVE LESS, SPEND MORE.

So much is being said about the plight of the unemployed that the public fails to see the more encouraging side of the present situation. Those who are regularly employed are piling up such vast surpluses in savings banks that those institutions are beginning to cut interest rates and to advise their depositors to buy more and save less. An enormous amount of capital has been accumulated and is available for distribution to start the wheels of industry rolling at a normal pace once more.

The Emigrant Industrial Savings Bank of New York, one of the largest mutual savings institutions in the country, has sent circular letters to its 249,000 depositors, advising them to withdraw for "judicious spending" whatever surplus they may have on hand above a reasonable reserve. The bank's advice is, in part, as follows:

Make careful purchases of things you want for permanent use while prices remain low. See that your home is put in good repair. Do not let your automobile, or any other property get "run down." If you have long needed an added piece of furniture, shop carefully and buy it now. Buy clothing in reasonable quantities. Buy real estate if you are planning a home of your own. Land prices have not been so low in many years, and mortgage money for building can be had on very reasonable terms. Wise spending at the right time is as much a part of good thrift as saving all you can when prices are going up.

This is excellent advice from the viewpoint of the individual as well as that of the whole country. The dollar represents 16 per cent more buying power than it did in 1928. A savings deposit of $500 placed in a bank before the depression began is now worth about $550 in actual purchasing power, exclusive of the accumulated interest. By carefully spending now the individual can take advantage of that higher purchasing power.

If the millions that are being piled up in savings banks were put into circulation in the form of judicious purchases, industry would be stimulated, unemployment would be mitigated and the economic system would be set on the road to recovery. In reality the depression has not affected the great majority of the American people, except psychologically. The average wage will probably buy more of the necessities of life than it would two years ago.

It is time for these millions of workmen and others who have been profiting from the depression, so to speak, to begin distributing their accumulated surplus. They will be asked, of course, to contribute to unemployment relief, but beyond that they are only asked to spend their means on commodities for their own use while prices are low and goods are abundant. If they heed this sound advice, the millions of families in the United States that have ample and steady incomes have it within their power to start the restoration of prosperity.

LABOR STANDS FIRM.

"It is the unflinching purpose of the American Federation of Labor to stand resolutely against reduction in wages." Thus the executive council of the federation, at its meeting in Atlantic City, reiterated the position it has maintained throughout the present depression. The council commends, in a formal statement, the employers and owners of industry who have subscribed to the high-wage philosophy and who have steadfastly discharged their obligations and kept the promise made to President Hoover to maintain the wage structure.

On the contrary, the council condemns in a most vigorous way the action of some employers who "have taken advantage of human distress and human suffering to impose and force wage reductions in spite of the protests of the workers involved as well as those who represent them." The statement made public by President William Green says the council is firmly of the opinion that the distressing unemployment situation can be overcome only through development of the purchasing power of the people to its maximum capacity, and that the widespread unemployment throughout the country is due to a decrease in that buying power.

Destruction of the purchasing power of 6,000,000 unemployed, Mr. Green points out, represents the loss of many millions of dollars that can never be retrieved, yet the amount of goods that these workmen could have bought and consumed if they had been maintained in reasonably steady employment would have prevented a continuation of the distressing situation now existing. In the light of such economic facts the president of the federation considers it amazing to observe the statements of some who propose a further impairment of the purchasing power of workers now employed.

The labor leaders are firm in their position that the present unemployment situation will not be relieved until wages are built up so that idle men and women can again buy and consume. In reiterating their attitude they express confidence that they are contributing toward the highest and best interests of all the people and through such action serving to bring about a restoration of normal conditions.

Following its protest against wage reductions, the council announces recommendations for the organization and coordination of relief work for the winter, expressing the belief that local community organizations should serve as the distributing agencies. Along more constructive lines it advises expansion of building programs for Federal, State and municipal governments and, in order to distribute more generally available work, adoption of a five-day week and a six-hour day is urged.

The representatives of labor are not alone in consideration of unemployment and relief problems. The seriousness with which political officials and business executives have attacked the gigantic question of remedial measures is reassuring. Extensive preparations are being made not only to care for immediate needs, but to provide both work and relief until conditions brought about by the depression have definitely improved.

WHISKERS IN 1931

From the Providence Journal.

We read that two citizens of Centralia in the State of Washington were recently "put in the stocks" because they had shaved their faces, in violation of a municipal ordinance. It seems that Centralia was about to celebrate its municipal birthday with a "pioneer festival." Whiskers were worn by all male adults at the time of Centralia's beginnings, and as it was desired to have this celebration realistic it was decreed that no male Centralian should shave until after the festival. In humiliation did the two rash lawbreakers pay the penalty for succumbing too soon to the modern lure of the razor.

The changes in fashion in the course of a century are astounding. With men the change has been mostly a matter of whiskers. By way of contrast to this Centralia episode we also read that just 100 years ago in Worcester a man was thrown into jail for refusing to shave. Morality and masculine dignity in those days demanded smooth faces, and countenances adorned by hirsute vagaries were taboo. In a century the wheel of fashion has made a complete revolution—from smooth faces to bewildering tangles of whiskers and back again to a scrupulous smoothness. And yet, with the exception of some special circumstance like the one here noted, men today are permitted to shave or go shavenshine according to their fancy, unhampered by sumptuary laws. The Centralia incident has given rise to a discussion of whiskers, and as invariably happens when the subject crops up out of the back of beyond, the old controversy over "burnsides" and "sideburns" has been taken up for new consideration. Reference to "sideburns" in a brief historical review of whisker phenomena has evoked a passionate protest from a writer who declares that there is no such word as "sideburns" and never was. He says that the right word is "sideboards," which dates from the War of 1812 or thereabouts, and that when Gen. Ambrose E. Burnsides made "burnsides" popular a half century later the two hirsute styles became confused, resulting in the mangled form of "sideburns."

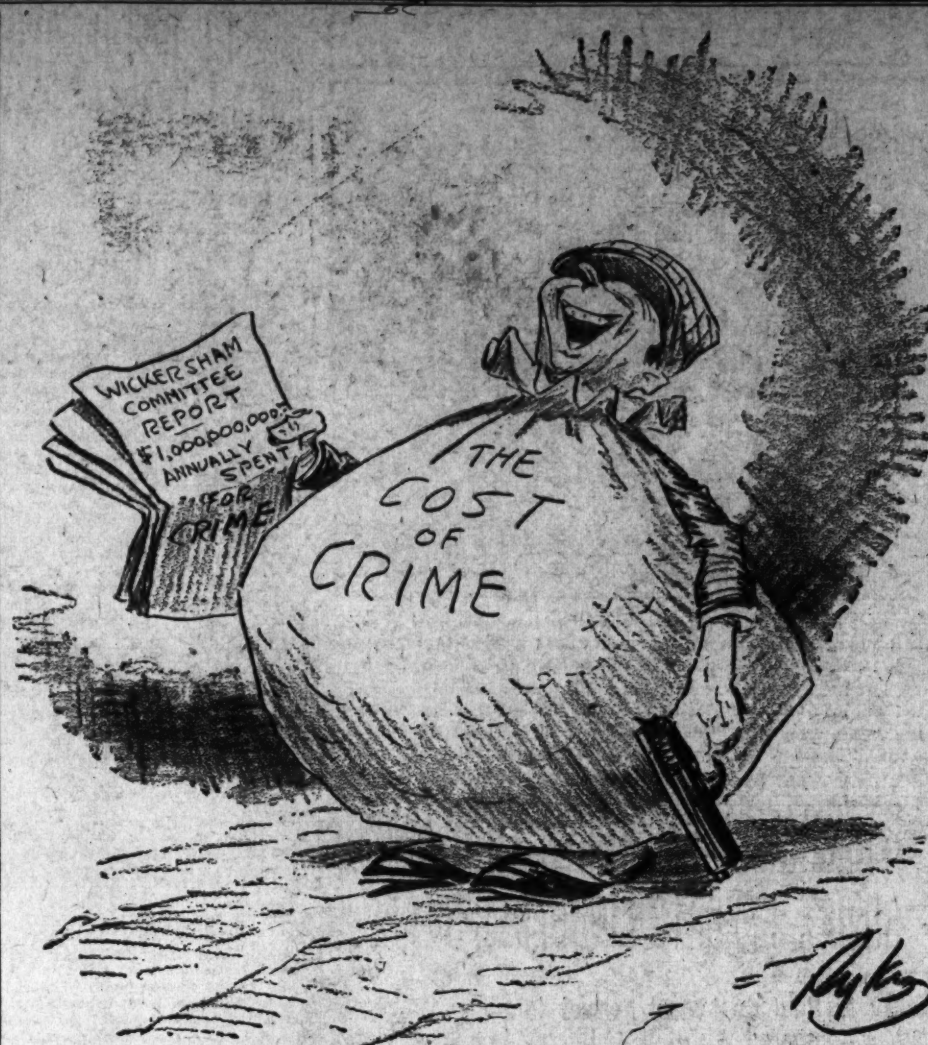

It is quite clear in our own mind that sideburns and burnsides were two entirely different kinds of facial outcroppings. Mutton-chop whiskers were something else again. There has been much confusion over the question in the minds of the elders, although naturally it is all a deep, dark mystery to the younger generation. We imagine, without being able to prove the fancy, that burnsides were cultivated some years before Gen. Burnsides raised his. The peculiar cut was named in his honor merely because he was the most eminent exponent of a magnificent style.

The whole question is perplexing because there are so many different concepts in the hirsute vocabulary. What are whiskers? What is a beard? Is it true that whiskers are the hair that is permitted to grow on the cheeks? And is a beard confined to the chin area? When a man refers to his beard he merely means in a general way the whole growth of hair on his face, and at that he may shave every day of his life and so have no beard at all. And if whiskers are to be regarded as purely a side line, how are we to account for the term "chin whiskers"?

Passing from the chin and the chops to the upper lip, can a mustache rightly be regarded as whiskers? It all depends, we should say.

A man who sports a mustache of the old-time walrus type may be considered a bewhiskered individual, but it would be absurd to characterize an abbreviated Charlie Chaplin affair as "whiskers."

Whole volumes have been written on the subject, and still we can not comprehend it. But we are mortally afraid of it, because there is a chance that whiskers will again be in vogue some day, like the recrudescence of "burnsides." Meanwhile we may rejoice that in this part of the country anything in the nature of a pioneer festival is bound to celebrate a period that lies away back in the old-time smooth-face era. We shall run no danger of being put into the stocks, like the two unfortunate of Centralia.

If an Enemy Must Correct Your Children, Your Own Neglect Is to Blame

By ROBERT QUILLEN

If you were required to guess the current subject of debate that arouses the most ardent partisanship among literate Americans, which one would you name?

A man who writes for many newspapers can not be a partisan. His job is to entertain, instruct or merely suggest ideas that will prompt his readers to exercise their wits.

He makes mistakes, as all men do, but he never makes a careless statement. When he has covered one phase of a subject as well as he can in one short article, he reviews his product sentence by sentence and asks himself: "Is that exactly true? Can you prove that by logic or evidence? Is it so clear and simple that children can understand it?"

Even so, he will be called to task—by some who read between the lines instead of judging each statement as it is written, and by others who forget that an article of 600 words makes no pretense of exhausting the subject.

Brickbats and bouquets are part of his job. And that brings us to the point, which is that articles on conditions in Russia bring a greater response of praise and censure than any other.

That in itself is astonishing, but there is another revelation stranger still.

The writer has no personal interest in Russia's success or failure—except as it affects truth and liberty. He merely reports and interprets authenticated facts that seem of sufficient importance to interest readers.

But readers who are moved to reply are fervid partisans. They hate the scheme of things in Russia, or they hate all critics of the scheme. And here is the astonishing thing. Of those who resent criticism of Russia, the majority point out America's faults and say: "What right has anybody to knock Russia when this country is so full of rottenness? Let Russia alone and clean up this vile place."

Do you realize the significance of that?

It is as though a man should say to his brother: "Quit discussing the affairs of the neighbors and point out the rottenness in our family. Our own kin are the worst of all people."

Do you realize how many people in America hate the country? Do you realize that those who hate the country are more zealous in winning converts than those who love it?

There are many evils in America, all of them due to the indifference of good citizens.

If they are not corrected by patriots, they may be corrected by unleashed malice.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Newport Spokesman Roasts Fred Britten for Moving Naval Fleet to Montauk.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: As the Bay of Narragansett, with its torpedo station and Naval War College, has been a rendezvous for ships of war and varieties of shipping since the Indians were no more of this region, no brief is held by me if the Bureau of Navigation of the Navy wishes any part of the fleet to maneuver or moor in other harbors. It has been done repeatedly, since the War of 1812 more particularly. Perhaps hot dog vendors and those who consider themselves of the socially-elect in Newport are as unreconciled to the ships' departure as those in Washington might be were the executive and administrative parts of the Navy ordered from the National Capital. Quite obviously, Washington business men would not be happy over such a transfer.

However, a fleet's movement from our bay to what navigators of naval and merchant ships declare are really hazardous waters of Fort Pond Bay off Montauk, at the behest of a Chicago Congressman, emphasizes the literal definition of a much-used term in the central West; i. e., racket. In it we have a cold-blooded and quite unethical act on the part of the Cook County representative, exercising the power given him by the people of his district to improve his bank account by attempting to advertise a real estate project in which his financial interest is said to be not small. Moreover, a recent financial statement of the Montauk subdivision, on the shores of Fort Pond Bay, shows how deep in the red it has gone through its lack of success headed by a former Miami Beach realtor. It can not but leave a bad taste in the mouth of the right-minded citizens of our country at tidewater and interior parts.

One might recommend that the chairman of naval affairs, with his smoke screen of charges and alibis, previous to attempting to promote his land interests on the Eastern seaboard, put his own house in order in a city that is in the glare of crime's most revealing spotlight as administered by foreign-born gang leaders, undesirable naturalized citizens and crooks in a political field classified as particularly loathsome but mostly profitable.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: In view of the many important questions that are of some concern in our social and economic life today, I am of the opinion that a greater interpretative understanding is only possible by the perusal and consideration of the editorials of our daily newspaper, which are only appreciated by a selective few. The editorial columns reflect the opinions of the most able writers. They are also indicative of the public viewpoint that is given expression in a most convincing manner, or, at least, so it may be understood by the majority of readers. They not only keep the public currently informed, but build up faith in our Nation and its Government, which is necessary to discourage forces opposed to constituted authority.

I would particularly refer to the editorials of your valued paper, which are of special interest, since they treat of both foreign and domestic affairs, as the occasions arise.

If more readers could be prevailed upon to peruse newspaper editorials I feel sure they would appreciate this particular type of comment on public matters or questions, since it is not only of an educational value, but it keeps the readers currently informed concerning the daily affairs of our Nation.

Saloon Is Defended by Citizen Who Wants Referendum on Eighteenth Amendment.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Most of all the wet and dry articles and speeches one reads do not help to solve the prohibition question, but only prolong the strife and discord which are now abroad in the land. The bootlegger only ferments and brews his own wares, while most of the wet and dry articles ferment and brew hate, discord and strife, which are the devil's wares.

We should not condemn the saloons on account of a small percentage being disreputable. Neither should we condemn the churches and the prohibition party because a small percentage are hypocrites.

Wet politicians have no more right to say that we can not have saloons than the dry have to say that we can not have any liquor. This is a question that should be voted on and settled by the people, as they are the ones who put the eighteenth amendment in the Constitution. So I think now is the time to find out by election whether they are in favor of the eighteenth amendment or not. The two hardest words for the American people to swallow are "enforce" and "prohibit," and the two easiest are "light wines" and "beer."

SPARKS DEATH JURY FAILS TO FIX BLAME

Men Accused of Attacking Woman Are Freed on Murder Charge.

A coroner's jury last night refused to fix the responsibility for the death of Mrs. Ann Noble Sparks on William P. Dermott and Howard N. Boulden, who were held on murder warrants in connection with the case.

Mrs. Sparks died as the result of injuries received after she jumped from a car which police said was occupied by the two men. When she ran from one automobile she dashed into the path of another machine, driven by Jesse Cobb, of Bladensburg, Md., and was struck.

The jury, impaneled in Prince Georges county, where the accident occurred, found "that Mr. Cobb be exonerated of all blame." They stated: "We further make a statement that we do not see fit to make any charges against William P. Dermott or Howard N. Boulden, mentioned in this case, due to lack of evidence."

Conflicting Stories Told.

Sheriff W. C. Hopkins testified that the woman told him, while in the hospital, that she had been struck by a car which she had jumped from. He said she made contradictory statements, saying once that an assault attempt was made, after first saying that it was not.

According to the testimony of Mr. Cobb, which was verified by Mr. and Mrs. Joseph H. McCauley and Howard N. Rinker, the woman had a gag in her mouth when she was struck by Cobb's auto. The other three persons were in passing cars and arrived on the scene shortly after the accident.

Attorneys Joseph D. DeLoe and Robert W. McCulloch, representing Boulden, and Albert B. Hassall and Harold Brody for Dermott, were present at the inquest. Before the verdict was returned, Mr. DeLoe said that he was preparing to have his client waive extradition and return to Maryland.

Injuries Are Described.

According to Dr. Richard Edgar Dunkley, Mrs. Sparks, who was 40 years old, died of a crushed chest, multiple fractures, and a blood clot. The two men held in the case were each 23. The morning after Mrs. Sparks' injury, the two young men were severely beaten by four other men, three of whom were later caught.

The verdict of the jury automatically freed Boulden and Dermott on the murder charges. Further charges of attempted criminal assault and robbery remain against them, however. The case may also be brought to the attention of the next grand jury.

War Department Protests Prison-Made Product Costs Too Much.

The price of prison-made shoes has brought a difference of opinion between the War and Justice Departments.

Secretary Hurley complained to Comptroller General McCarl that the Justice Department was charging it $2.75 a pair for shoes of $2.44. Mr. Hurley said a St. Louis firm was charging only $2.44 for the same number.

Despite low labor costs, the Justice Department maintained it could not make the shoes any cheaper.

Under the law, the War Department is required to take the prison shoes. With the memory of President Hoover's instructions for rigid economy, it has figured that they will cost $15.297 more than the Missouri footwear.

Girl, 19, Left to Face Raid, Fined $200 in Rum Case

Suspended Jail Sentence Also Imposed at Rockville; Montgomery Police Win Praise for Curbing Riotous Parties Along Conduit Road.

Coincident with the fining of a 19-year-old girl on liquor violation charges, a round robin letter was received by Chief Alvin A. Moxley, of the Montgomery County Police, praising the efficient manner in which the county police have cleared up a riotous situation on the Conduit road.

The girl, Lillian Reed, 19 years old, of Rock Springs, Md., was fined $200 and given a suspended sentence of 9 months in jail yesterday by Judge Charles W. Woodward in county police court at Rockville, Md. The judge offered her the alternative of 9 months in jail.

The girl was arrested two weeks ago by county police of the Bethesda subdivision, led by Chief Moxley and Sgt. Leroy Rogers, commanding the substation. Her male companion escaped, leaving the girl to take the consequences. She was charged with possession of a large quantity of liquor and beer. The girl denied ownership of the liquor and said that it was at the house when she came home that evening.

Wesley Johnson, of Cabin John, Md., also was fined in police court yesterday. He was arrested in the course of the raids made by county police, following complaints by residents of the Conduit road that many Washingtonians are wont to take advantage of the freedom accorded campers along the river and canal, and carry on riotous parties which interfered with the rest of citizens along the road.

The citizens wrote a letter to the county commissioners about the conditions, but found themselves "scooped" by the police when they discovered that raids had netted several prisoners the night before the letter was received.

The letter to Chief Moxley was signed by Norman L. Davis and especially commended the work of Sgt. Rogers, Policemen Theodore Vollen and William T. Darnell, as well as containing a blanket commendation for the entire force which worked on the cases. The letter inclosed a letter to the Montgomery County Commissioners, which will be presented today at the meeting of the board. This letter was signed by 30 residents of the Conduit road section and likewise commends the work of the police force.

Martial Law Fails To Deter Firebugs

Incendiary Blazes Continue Despite Efforts to Curb Arson in Texas.

Kilgore, Tex., Aug. 24 (A.P.)—The combined forces of military and civil authorities today failed to halt incendiary activities in this rampant east Texas oil town.

Twelve hours after the last instance of arson yesterday's series of seven attempts, another fire of incendiary origin broke out in a vacant wooden house about one mile from general headquarters of the National Guard units enforcing martial law in the oil fields.

The fire, which had been ignited with a mass of gasoline-soaked rags, was extinguished without great loss. Authorities regarded the fire as an expression of disobedience to a petroleum shutdown order, being enforced by the military.

Meanwhile, Brig. Gen. Jacob F. Wolters ordered sentries at headquarters to turn in their rifles and draw sawed off shot guns to prevent a recurrence of last night's alarm. A man drove through camp in an automobile, firing wildly at the tents.

NEW ROOMS ADDED AT COUNTY SCHOOL

Takoma-Silver Spring High Now Will Seek to Be Accredited.

Repairs now being made to the Takoma-Silver Spring High school are expected to bring that school within the requirements for an accredited school, it was announced yesterday by Edwin W. Broome, superintendent of Montgomery County Schools.

The school board is working on data necessary for accrediting and expects to have it ready so that it can be acted on in October by the accrediting board. The board requires among other things that the school must have had at least one graduation exercise and that a separate room must be maintained for a library.

The superintendent's announcement follows the action of Takoma Park citizens in forming a general committee to push the fight for a modern Takoma Park High School. The first official act of this committee was to point out that it is probable that 83 senior high, 111 junior high, 152 elementary and 6 vocational students from the town who now attend Washington schools will attend the Maryland school if it becomes accredited. The committee also is discussing a plan whereby the present Takoma-Silver Spring Senior and Junior High School building would be converted into a senior high for Takoma Park and a new junior high school built in the heart of the town.

Walter D. Lambert has been elected chairman of the general committee. J. Dann Faber, vice chairman; W. H. McClelland, secretary, and D. F. Angier, treasurer.

5 Machine Gunners Rob Bank of $5,000

Robbers Chased on Street of Cumberland, Wis., But Make Getaway.

Cumberland, Wis., Aug. 24 (A.P.)—Five robbers armed with a machine gun looted the State Bank of Cumberland of $5,000 today. One of them was believed wounded by a deputy sheriff. The men escaped. Six persons were forced to lie on the floor by four men who entered while the fifth remained in an automobile with the machine gun.

Milton Hunnicutt, 19, messenger, dashed out a rear door as the "hand up" command came and spread the alarm.

Bert Myers, deputy sheriff, commanded a car, and followed the fleeing car down the main street. Machine gun bullets were sprayed from the raider's vehicle as Myers neared it and fired. A bandit in the rear seat slumped as though shot, witnesses said.

Machine gun bullets forced Myers to quit the chase. No one in the street was wounded although several buildings were struck.

6th Marine Brigade Organizes at Camp

Officers and Men of Unit to Be Guests at Beach Dance Tomorrow.

Special to The Washington Post. Virginia Beach, Va., Aug. 24.—Emerging victorious in their battle with the elements, the Sixth Marine Brigade today had completed final organization of their annual encampment now under way at Camp Polk here. When the brigade paraded through the streets of Washington Sunday the weather was favorable, but long before they reached camp the skies had opened and transformed their camp into a quagmire.

Unloaded from a railway siding some distance from the camp, they marched through the downpour in perfect order and established camp with true marine dispatch.

The recently organized communications section, under Capt. Windsor B. W. Stroup, has established radio communication with the Navy Department at Washington, and by tomorrow will have completed the entire telephone system required to supply messages to strategic points. On Wednesday evening the officers and men of the Sixth Brigade will be the guests of the Virginia Beach Chamber of Commerce at a dance.

Mrs. Salz in Quiz Of Lost Japanese

New Woman in Case Says She Introduced Importer and Mrs. Reissner.

New York, Aug. 24 (A.P.)—Another woman, attractive and red-haired, today entered into the investigation into what happened to Hisashi Fujimura, missing Japanese importer. She is Mrs. Jean Salz, who, questioned by Federal officials, disclosed she was the one who introduced Fujimura and Mrs. Mary Von Reissner, the former actress who accompanied the importer on the six-day ocean cruise from which he never returned.

She said that shortly after a party in her hotel suite early last year, at which the two met, Fujimura introduced the place from her for Mrs. Von Reissner.

The one-time showgirl was questioned for four hours. Among other questions, she was asked what she knew of the $335,000 shrinkage in the Japanese bank accounts in five months. Teri Josefovita, ship pianist, and Jan Ribas, ship artist, were also interrogated again.

Texas-Mexico Span Cause of U. S. Quiz

El Paso Merchants Protest Gambling in Juarez Is Hurting Business.

(Associated Press.)

An investigation of the traffic which crosses the international bridge between El Paso, Tex., and Juarez, Mexico, was ordered yesterday by Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Lowman.

This action followed receipt of requests from El Paso business men that the bridge be closed earlier at night on the grounds that business in El Paso was being injured through loss of money in Juarez gambling houses.

Lowman recently ordered bridges between other sections of Texas and Mexico closed on the grounds that open gambling and other conditions across the border were having a degrading effect upon residents on the American side of the line.

The El Paso business men argued in their petition that money which should be spent in El Paso was being diverted to gambling houses in Juarez because the international bridge was open until midnight.

De Sibours Leave Peiping On 2-Month Air Vacation

Bound for Paris, the Vicomte and Vicomtesse Jacques de Sibour, who are vacationing in the Far East by airplane, hopped off yesterday from Peiping to continue their aerial sight-seeing trip through Asia and Europe. They will make a rapid trip over Russia and will transport to her Paris home the wife of the French Minister to China.

The trip undertaken by the De Sibours has been one of thrilling adventure. A fortnight ago the vicomte was reported missing on flight from Peiping to Shanghai, but later it developed he had been forced down and had spent the night in Shanghai. He resumed his flight the next day and since that time has made frequent trips over north China without mishap.

The young vicomte and vicomtesse visited Washington in 1929, stopping here in the course of a world tour by air. They were given a warm welcome here. The vicomte is a nephew of Vicomte Henri de Sibour and a cousin of his sons, M. Henri L. J. de Sibour and M. Jacques Elise de Sibour. He and his wife were much feted by relatives during their Washington visit and were received by President Hoover.

Vicomtesse de Sibour was Miss Violet Selfridge and is the daughter of Mr. J. Gordon Selfridge, formerly of Chicago, but now of London, and one of the merchant princes of the British capital. Vicomte de Sibour pilots his own plane. With the vicomtesse he took off from Le Bourget near Paris, about two months ago on the first lap of their air tour over Europe and Asia. From Le Bourget they headed for Koenigsberg, East Prussia, whence they flew to European Russia, Siberia, Japan and China.

FRANCES McDONALD

A Real Man Views Woman.
EAR FRANCES McDONALD—Recently your column carried the most amazing letter from a husband. Naturally to the narrow minded it strengthened their daily arguments as to whom is superior, man or woman. I noted particularly that he gave you the razor blade. Being of his sex please allow me to say a few words regarding your selection of an most able to guide the actions and give advice to other men and women.

If you should ask all the men who read your column, I would wager my month's salary that the two-thirds of them will admit you are a blessing to your sex.

The very fact that Ex-husbands "hate" all women judges the universal army of women by the faults of one, goes to show plainly that he as one male is inferior to women. I am 24, married, two children and the most beautiful and angelic wife heaven could send. Our first baby was a desire, second an incident; surprise, but to her an even greater joy than the first—and to us both one more joy to life.

Ex-husbands should not attempt to argue as to woman's virtue. Woman is crowned in her birth with virtue far superior to the any man will ever possess. Judging from my own nature and knowing that most men are like myself, we can plainly see that we are possessed of an instinct of the animal type—though we do not like to admit it. We know women have it not. With a few exceptions men when angered are like some wild beast, raging at its prey. When they are sick suffering pain they are like a sick dog, whining and crying, helpless, waiting for comfort and sympathy. On the other hand, woman, angered has such control as to cry it off without causing suffering to anyone else. In illness she is calm no matter how miserable, with a tear, taking it as only a 100 per cent human can.

I believe women are a great and priceless gift to mankind. If that be true, let me not be true that men who are real men prize the gift as even greater than they or anything upon earth, to the extent that man protects it with his life? The trouble is that men have understood from history how women were treated long ago, and traditionally think they are a convenience and not a necessity. Man takes his burden home and places it upon the back of his wife and usually bears it without complaint; if she does not, becomes indignant and she is inferior. Altogether wrong! We should thank heaven that it has blessed the world with womanhood which soothes the troubled souls of men and lifts the burden from their backs and with a smile sends them away on their way. If that is not superiority, tell me. Men will forever need women! If that which you need I am superior to that you already have I am waiting to hear you say.

Such a letter will warm the hearts of thousands of women who, neglected, forgotten, uncomplaining, but disheartened, wonder whether indeed

THIS MORNING with SHIRLEY L. POVICH

SOMETHING of a record for a batting team was set not so long ago in Baltimore when the referee of the wrestling match, contented he didn't see an enthusiastic spectator climb up into the ring and with one well-delivered right hook rendered one of the matmen hors de combat for the time being. The referee somehow, called the bout a draw.

Baseball turned up with a play last Saturday that threatens the reputation of the wrestling referee. Len Styles, Cincinnati catcher, claimed he had been hit by a pitched ball. Umpire Scott sent him to first. Umpire Higley overruled the decision and sent him back to the plate. Styles grounded out and the Reds' manager protested so strenuously that a conference between the three umpires resulted in the ruling that Styles actually had been hit and he was sent back to first again. Somebody missed something.

The Reeves Case

Bobby Reeves was at bat for the Red Sox in a game out West early in the season. When a pitch sailed across the plate, he drew back to let it pass and then flung his bat away, wringing his hands in pain, as he started to first base on the claim that he was hit on the wrist by the pitch.

Ad Liska Again

Ad Liska, who had the temerity to suggest that neither Clark Griffith nor Manager Walter Johnson knew what they were doing when they told him his arm was of no use to the Washington club, produced some very substantial evidence in his case last Sunday.

Simmons or Grove

A poll of American League players has resulted in the naming of Al Simmons over Babe Ruth as the most valuable player in the league. This column is not going to become embroiled in the logic of that argument, but it is my humble opinion that neither the one nor the other is a nominee Lefty Grove.

Pipgras May Be Lost To Yanks for Season

Chicago, Aug. 24 (A.P.).—George Pipgras, right-handed pitcher, was lost to the Yankees a third of the season, after an appendicitis operation, may be out of the game for the remainder of the 1931 campaign.

Steele Slams Roebuck to Triumph

Indian Beaten After 42 Minutes Before 7,500 Crowd.

Shikat and Pojello Win; Romanoff and Green Draw.

By BOB CONSIDINE

THE regular weekly meeting of the brothers of the fearful frown fraternity from dear old Cauliflower College, was committed last night at the township's ballfield. The customary business was transacted. Mr. Raymond S. Steele, 34, was elected chairman of the house committee and a vote of confidence was given Grand Vulture Jack Currier, Mr. Kola Kwariani was named deputy chairman of the grounds committee. Mr. Joseph Turner, secretary-treasurer announced that the depression had been alleviated to the extent of $5,000, contributed by some 7,500 ladies and gentlemen.

There was nothing of great moment recorded for posterity. Mr. Steele beat Mr. Roebuck in the union time of 42 minutes. Doctor Wilson defeated Dick Sock. Chief White Feather defeated Tiger Nelson. Carl Pojello defeated Frank Spears. Dick Shikat defeated Kola Kwariani, and George Romanoff and Dutch Green staged another of their eye-lashless, out-produced 15-minute draws, with which local wrestling history could be written in a book half as thick.

On the whole, it was a rather so-called evening. A nice moon was present. Boys in almost spotless white service coats and uniforms, which only an American sporting public can consume. The rascals were amiable in the extreme, and what little pugnaousness arose in the ring was evidently of a friendly nature for a visit to their dormitories after the whistle found them all smoking together and either chatting or thumping hands of bridge and poker.

Kwariani Really Bald

Perhaps the one blot on the good conduct of the boys was the case of Mr. Kwariani. Mr. Kwariani is a Russian in some cities, a Siberian in others, but the thing that never changes is the brightness of his bald head. There was never so much baldness on one head as Mr. Kwariani and Mr. Shikat were waltzing prettily, while a heated puppy purveyor whistled "Two Hearts Beating in Three-fourth Time."

Makes Three-point Landing

The ground was soft enough, but not soft enough was Mr. Kwariani's sensitized system, for after his shoulders waist and legs had affected a three-point landing, the flooring gentleman rolled over on his back and dully gazed at Referee Cylo Burns as he was counted out. Shikat stood in the center of the ring.

Tuffy Griffiths Gains Decision Over O'Kelly

Chicago, Ill., Aug. 24 (A.P.).—Tuffy Griffiths, Sioux City, Iowa, heavy-weight, earned a decision over Con O'Kelly, rugged Boston Irishman with a concrete chin, in a ten-round fight at the White City open-air arena tonight.

NEW YORK, Aug. 24 (A.P.).—Up around the Polo grounds where they're talking of nothing but Money—Jim Mooney—the lumber lefty John McGraw brought back from the Minors a couple of weeks ago to pitch the Giants to three straight victories in eight days, two of them shutouts.

*Two out when winning run scored.

DETROIT, Mich., Aug. 24.—Fred Marberry started pitching out a three-run lead in the sixth inning, but he had only one out when the Yankees pulled up to within a game and a half of the Nationals.

Elliott Hogsett, the left-handed Cherokee Indian, started and he started badly, but he had only one out when the Yankees pulled up to within a game and a half of the Nationals.

Marberry started out with a double play, but he had only one out when the Yankees pulled up to within a game and a half of the Nationals.

Marberry was hit hard while he was in there. Three batters faced Brown. Two of them hit safely and Myer killed a hit for the other one.

Harris fails trying for a shoe-string catch.

Johnson, leading off in the ninth, singled and Brown rebounded. Gehrig, instead of hunting, swung on the ball, hit into a double play and cleared the bases. Stone then singled. Alexander lifted a low fly to right. It was too far out for Myer and too late for Harris, but Harris made a game try. He came tearing in on the ball and attempted a shoe-string catch with the gloved hand. The ball landed safely, took a false bound off the right, and while Harris was chasing the ball Stone scored the run that ended the game.

Washington gave flawless support to her three pitchers. It was not alone favored, but brilliant in several places. The Tiger hit total was 14, but with lesser fielding it might have been 20. Few teams have exhibited a defense as sure and aggressive at any time this year.

While the Detroit hits totaled 23 bases, the 10 hits that Washington made off the Indians were limited to one base each, and a number of them were scratches. Hogsett's superiority over the Washington pitching was more pronounced than the score indicates. He had control besides, and of his two bases on balls, one was intentional and proved, on account of guessing a tactical error.

Six of Washington's ten hits came in the first two innings. Myer scratched a single in the first, Marvyn pushed one into left, Cronin flied and Harris singled. Myer's second base hit was a sacrifice fly. Stone singled in the third and died on first. Stone singled in the fourth and died in a double play.

Marberry took a right, but Hogsett was improved after the first. Myer and Manush singled in the second and West bunted a single in the fifth. In this inning Marberry began to ease. Gehrig walked, smacked a two-bagger off the left field wall, and with two down, Hayworth poled out a long double, scoring Walker. Marberry singled with two out in the sixth, and was left and he left soon after. Johnson, lead-off for Detroit in this inning, hit a home run. Gehrig singled, Stone grounded and Alexander singled. Marberry home. That hit tied the score at three and Hadley relieved Marberry.

Washington established a two-run lead in the seventh, when with one out, Cronin singled and "Harris walked. Both advanced on Weet's grounder. Hogsett didn't care for Bludge and gave him an intentional out. Cronin singled and "Harris walked. Both advanced on Weet's grounder. Hogsett didn't care for Bludge and gave him an intentional out.

STOCK PRICES

NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE TRADING

COTTONSEED OIL MARKET.

Late Upturn Reduces Loss on 90 Leading Issues; Sales Are Light.

New York, Aug. 24 (A.P.)—While prominent bankers were inclined to view the change of government in England with optimism, the financial markets were largely to their own devices today and in the main, drifted somewhat lower.

Despite the formation of a National all-party cabinet in England determined to balance the budget, the fact that the crisis was severe enough to lead to such measures was at last sufficiently impressed upon the speculative community to have a somewhat depressing influence for a time. The stock market was rather depressed, but a late upturn reduced the loss, as measured by the price average of 90 leading issues, to only 1/2 point. It was notable, however, that the Standard Statistics-Associated Press price average of 20 rails finally dipped a fraction below the bear market minimum of June 2. While average prices were only five years, older comparisons indicate that the rails as a group are welling around the level of 1923.

Turnover Is Light.

The turnover in stocks was only 826,804 shares, the smallest for a full day in a fortnight. U. S. Steel declined nearly 2 points at one time, but reduced its loss to only a minor fraction at the close. A share of the phone sold down as much as 3 points, but came back to finish only 1/4 of a point lower. Even the rails recovered a little from the day's lowest, although recuperative power in this group as a whole was less marked than elsewhere. New York Central, after sinking more than a point to a new low since 1921, recovered all of its loss, however.

American Tobacco B lost 2 points net, and McKeessop Tinplate, 3. Miscellaneous issues closing a point or so lower included Electric Autolite, Rock Island, Krueger & Toll, National Biscuit, National Dairy, Pennsylvania Railroad, and Southern Pacific. General Motors was traded in large volume, but lost only a small fraction.

The persistent heaviness of the rails led to rumors that the four-party Eastern consolidation plan was off, but these were discredited in some usually well-informed quarters. The Pennsylvania demand for trackage rights over the Nickel Plate is known to be strongly opposed by the New York Central, but it is expected that if necessary, the latter will acquiesce in the matter. It will be left undecided in the final plan, leaving it to be arbitrated or decided by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Oil Shares Steady.

Oil shares were about steady, as bulls made no further efforts to discount the steady improvement in crude oil prices, which have been supported by some companies at the 11-a-barrel price objective in Oklahoma.

Standards of New Jersey and California continued to hold at the same price, but the latter share exchange is widely expected.

Foreign exchanges were undisturbed by the London news. Wall Street was somewhat surprised when the London news indicated that the $250,000,000 Franco-American credit to the Bank of England had been largely used up, but it was stated in additional banking quarters that additional credit was forthcoming from private sources if requested, particularly with the better prospects of a balanced budget.

Sterling Cables Sag.

Sterling cables sagged only 1/4 of a cent, ruling at $4.85 13-16, or above the gold point. The Swiss franc was conspicuously firm, and the Canadian dollar moved slightly. The Argentine gold peso also showed further improvement.

There was inclination in cotton circles to attribute an upturn in the commodity to a favorable interpretation of the British developments. Futures closed substantially under the day's best, however, with net gains ranging from 90 cents to $1.15 a bale.

Wheat futures again broke to new lows, but recovered a little toward the close, showing net declines of 1/4 to 1 1/2 cents a bushel. An increase in the visible supply appeared to have inspired fresh selling. Corn lost only 1/4 to 1/2 of a cent. The sugar market softened modestly.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

Chicago, Aug. 24 (A.P.)—Concern over foreign political and financial developments today caused a wave of liquidation to sweep over the grain markets, forcing prices on all derivatives of all grains, except March wheat, to show a surprise to the season. Trading started with wheat showing moderate strength in sympathy with grain prices at the time the liquidation of the labor ministry was regarded as a temporary setback to the grain and corn market.

Wheat closed weak 1/4 to 1/2 cents lower. Corn, 1/4 to 1/2 cent down, and provisions registering 80 to 90 cents decline. Liverpool market was expected to show a moderate decline, but the wheat advance in price was explained as due to buying by interests that feared the new government would place an import duty on wheat.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. W. A. EVANS

To the limit of space questions pertaining to hygiene and prevention of disease will be answered in this column. Personal replies will be made to inquiries, under proper limitations when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Dr. Evans will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual disease.

SOME POSTURE CONSIDERATIONS.

THERE is a simple method by which one can tell whether a lateral curvature of the spine is structural or habitual. That is, whether it has resulted from disease of the vertebrae or was a result of such habits as standing or sitting improperly, or writing with one shoulder too high. The person bends forward and tries to touch the hands to the ground. The trunk should be bare. If, in this position, the lateral curvature disappears, and there are no bumps or bumps, the curvature is functional. This is one of the conclusions of a study of posture and physical fitness made by Dr. A. Klein and Miss L. C. Thomas.

Another conclusion is that turning out of the toes is the most frequently encountered postural defect. Nearly four-fifths of the children had it. In this study the poorly nourished children stood out the most. Those with thin, narrow bodies were most likely to have this habit. The toeing out position of the foot is poor from the mechanical standpoint. Children who stand that way tire quickly. A considerable part of them had poor posture in other details.

A bad type of body build was one in which the lower ribs met at a sharp angle over the pit of the stomach. If these lower ribs run upward and join the lower end of the breastbone, so as to form a sharp angle and a narrow space, the child is liable to develop into an adult with dropped stomach. Adults with dropped stomachs—visceroptosis—are liable to have low blood pressure and to indulge in a multitude of symptoms.

Persons with poor muscular development are liable to have prominent lower abdomens. This is true of children, as well as of adults. In addition to the tendency to sag because of muscle weakness, this region of the abdomen below the navel is one of the first places in which excess fat is laid down. In consequence, in most adults out of condition and in many children, the front of the abdomen, from the navel down, is shaped like a new moon—or worse.

In examining a child for poor posture, it is important to look for this defect. A child with an abdomen that is flat in this region should be scored high on posture. If a person is told to draw his abdomen in he will breathe in, draw his shoulders and chest up, and retract his abdomen indirectly. At least, that's the way a flabby person does. One with good muscles and good posture will draw the abdomen flat by direct muscle action.

One of the important things taught in posture classes is how to stand straight without throwing the abdomen out. If the muscles are well developed and in good tone they will hold the abdomen flat. If the abdomen is flat it will not be selected as a dumping ground for fat.

TREATING RINGWORM.

L. U. writes: My wife was troubled with ringworm of the feet. She tried several treatments. Some were temporarily beneficial but the sores returned after a week or so. Last summer she was told to bathe the feet in hot water (as hot as she could), then put two teaspoons of formaldehyde in two quarts of hot water. The infected parts of the feet were to be dipped into it for a month only, one or two times, for a few nights. This remedy was successful and she has not been troubled with the disease, or any signs of it, for a year.

FISH AND MILK.

F. C. B. writes: Is it harmful to eat fish meat and drink milk at the same meal?

REPLY.

No.

VITAMINS.

M. B. writes: Will you please print a list of the foods containing vitamins A and D, especially in the latter? I have been taking codliver oil this winter, but do not wish to continue it in the summer and would like to substitute foods in its place.

REPLY.

Among the foods containing vitamin D are the irradiated foods, buttermilk, cheese, fat, sea fish and most vegetables.

Among these containing vitamin A are milk, cheese, butter, carrots, spinach, turnip and many other vegetables.

Fifth Avenue Fashions

A simple daytime frock of printed silk in red and white joins its youthfully smart shaped collar with faceting. A sheer red velvet ribbon bow accents the front opening. It marks its higher waistline with a narrow belt, and lengthens its skirt with a circular flounce that is quite shallow.

It's simplicity itself to make! The cost will prove a mere trifle.

Style No. 748 may be had in sizes 14, 16, 18, 20 years, 36, 38, 40 and 42 inches bust. Size 36 requires 3½ yards of 39-inch material with ¼ yard of 3¼-inch ribbon.

It's jaunty in yellow shantung worn with brown patent leather belt. Join the cape sections with brown binding.

Pastel flat washable crepe silk, cotton mesh, eyelid batiste and printed voile are stunning ideas for its development.

Kentucky Disorder Cases Will Be Sent for Trial to Other Counties.

HARLAN, Ky., Aug. 24 (A.P.)—Trial of the murder and other cases growing out of the Harlan County coal fields disorders by juries far removed from the scene was determined upon here today by Circuit Judge D. C. Jones. Meanwhile he fixed bond for defendants in the murder cases at $10,000 each.

Over protest of defense counsel that such action would handicap the defendants by causing them additional expenses, Judge Jones granted the motion of Commonwealth's Attorney W. A. Brock for change of venue in 18 murder cases.

FAMILY FIGHT
IS PROBED IN DEATH OF SHOE MERCHANT

Police Hold Brother-in-Law
as Maurice Narcisenfeld
Dies of Hemorrhage.

INQUEST SLATED TODAY
WILL HEAR ROW STORY

Financial Matter May Have Been Cause of Wrangle
Eleven Days Ago.

Maurice Narcisenfeld, 42 years old, proprietor of two shoe stores on Seventh street, died in Emergency Hospital yesterday from a cerebral hemorrhage, believed by police to have followed an altercation on August 16, with Jacob Farber, 46 years old, a brother-in-law.

Farber is under arrest at the Twelfth Precinct on an open charge. He is being held for the action of a coroner's jury which will conduct an inquest into the case today. The altercation is said to have occurred in Farber's home, 1124 I street northwest.

Financial troubles between the men were given as the cause. Deputy Coroner Joseph D. Rogers, who performed an autopsy on Narcisenfeld's body, gave the cause of death as a "cerebral hemorrhage caused by external violence." Relatives of the dead man said Dr. Walter Dandy of Johns Hopkins Hospital, who performed an operation on him Saturday, gave the cause of death as a tumor on the brain.

Farber Admits Fight.
After Farber's arrest last night, according to Detective Sergeant Dennis J. Murphy and John J. Flaherty, he admitted having had a fight with his brother-in-law, Farber, they said, had induced a $3,000 note for Narcisenfeld, who was in financial difficulties when the note was made.

On August 16, Narcisenfeld went to Farber's home, to visit his mother who makes her home there. An argument developed, according to police, Narcisenfeld removed his glasses and offered to fight Farber. Blows were exchanged, according to police, but the men were separated by Farber's wife, Millie, the sister of Narcisenfeld.

The dead man's son, Harvey, 11 years old, was in the house at the time, and heard the argument between the men, police said. Farber, according to detectives, said he slapped his brother-in-law with his open hand. Narcisenfeld did not fall, he said.

Complained of Headache.
Less than two hours afterwards, when Narcisenfeld had returned to his home at 500 N street northwest, he complained of a violent headache and soon after collapsed in the bathroom of his apartment. For a week, he was treated by private physicians, according to police, but was taken to Emergency Hospital, where the operation was performed.

Mrs. Mary Narcisenfeld, widow of the dead man, was unable to talk to detectives last night. She will be brought to the inquest today. Mrs. Farber will also be called, as will Narcisenfeld's son, Harvey, several physicians and other relatives of the dead man.

Farber is also in the shoe business, being proprietor of a store at 1000 Seventh street.

Narcisenfeld is survived by his wife, two children, his mother, and several brothers and sisters.

40 More Men Get Jobs
On Mt. Vernon Highway

A foreman for the Johnston Construction Co., Johnston, Pa., contributed a large portion of unemployed relief to last night's daily dinner for 175 jobless men provided by the Volunteers of America. He walked in with the announcement that he could use 40 men at 45 cents an hour to work on the new Mount Vernon highway.

The jobs will last for seven months.

Homeowner Captures
Intruder in His Yard

Surprising three men loitering in the yard of his home when he returned from a downtown store last night, Raymond Oden, of North Chevy Chase, Md., overtook and captured one of the trio as they attempted to escape.

Silver Spring police were summoned and after questioning by Corpl. George Windham, the man said his name was La Verne Wheeler, 22 years old, of San Antonio, Texas. He declared he did not know the names of his companions, and told Corpl. Windham they had gone in the yard to sleep. A futile search of nearby woods was made for the other men.

MAN FOUND HANGING FROM TREE SUICIDE.
OPINION OF CORONER

Nevitt to Hold Inquest Today, However, and Obtain Verdict.

RAILWAY MAIL CLERK
DISCOVERED IN GROVE

Self-Inflicted Wound on Wrist Gashed Friday,
Police Learn.

The body of Joseph L. Fincham, 36-year-old mail clerk, was found swinging from a tree in a lonely grove off Twentieth and H streets northeast. He was apparently a suicide, according to Coroner J. Ramsey Nevitt, but an inquest into the death will be held today.

Fincham, who lived at Manassas, Va., according to police, had been in financial difficulties and on Friday, when he visited the home of his mother, Mrs. L. A. Fincham, at 5407 Forty-first street northwest, he appeared depressed. While there, according to Detective Sgt. Murphy, he conversed with his left wrist bleeding where he had slashed it with a razor blade. The wound was dressed by his sister.

Throat Also Gashed.
Deputy Coroner Joseph D. Rogers performed an autopsy on the body last night and said death was caused by strangulation. When the body was found, his wrists and throat were deeply lacerated, apparently self-inflicted, and there was a minor bruise on his head.

The body was discovered shortly after noon by William Maxwell, 703 Sixteenth street northeast; James M. Howe, 1346 E street northeast; and James C. Wilkinson, 653 Sixteenth street northeast, when they took a short cut through the woods. A trail branch, sagging under his weight, permitted his knees to touch the ground. Dr. Nevitt believes he had been hanging thus for 48 hours.

Seen in Vacant House.
Capt. Mike Reedy, of the Ninth Precinct, reported two of his men, Policemen Henry V. Butler and John J. Flaherty, saw Fincham in a vacant house on Chicago street early Friday morning, and said he had been drinking.

Fincham, chief clerk of the Railway Mail Service, said Fincham had been a clerk with the service 15 years, running between Washington and Charleston, S. C. He said he had a good record, but had been absent without leave on one or two other occasions. He said Fincham was supposed to have gone out on his run August 19 and again August 21, but nothing had been heard from him.

His wife and two small children live in Manassas, Va. Fincham came to Washington at once to view the body of his mother, who died last week. Fincham was said to have left Manassas August 15 to shop in Washington. His family had not seen him since.

'IRONSIDES' CAPTAIN
BURIED IN ARLINGTON

Remains of John Gwinn,
Dead 82 Years, Given
Military Honors.

The remains of Capt. John Gwinn, U. S. N., onetime commanding officer of the famous frigate Constitution, was reinterred in Arlington Cemetery yesterday. Although he died in 1849, Capt. Gwinn's body was not brought to its rightful resting place until the Veterans of Foreign Wars found it almost hidden by weeds in a cemetery in Philadelphia, now condemned and to be abandoned. He was first buried in Palermo, Sicily.

The Veterans of Foreign Wars interested themselves in the case and application was made for a plot in Arlington. Once identification was established, this was allowed and yesterday the Acting Secretary of the Navy, Ernest Lee Jahncke, attended the services saying, "we are proud to bring this worthy hero to a final rest. I am honored to participate."

In addition to Mr. Jahncke and staff, a company of bluejackets, a company of Marines and the Navy Band attended the services. Capt. Sydney K. Evans, chief of the Chaplain Corps of the Navy, officiated. Honorary pallbearers included Rear Admiral Henry V. Butler, Commandant of the Washington Navy Yard; Capt. R. M. Brainerd, U. S. N.; Capt. O. L. Cox, U. S. N.; and Capt. William G. Dewey, Congressional Medal of Honor Association also participated.

Man Bitten by Spider
Is Taken to Hospital

Richard Clark, of Bowie, Md., was taken to Providence Hospital last night for treatment after being bitten by a spider at the Department of Agriculture farm in Herndon. According to James Willard, with whom the man was working, Clark was bitten shortly before noon while laying bricks in a boiler pit at the farm. By sundown, his arm was greatly swollen and he was in considerable pain.

Clark then went to Dr. James H. Truitt, president of the Glenn Dale rescue squad. Dr. Truitt advised hospital treatment and the man was brought to Washington by the squad. Mr. Willard said the insect was a glossy black one, about an inch in diameter, with a red spot in the center of its back. It bit Clark on the right thumb.

THE ONCE OVER

By H. I. PHILLIPS

ELMER TWITCHELL ON THE CUBAN REVOLT.

DEAR EDITOR: As a newspaper reader I am disappointed with the so-called revolution in Cuba as far as it appears to have gone, and I want to urge upon both sides the importance of pepping it up if they expect to hold their heads.

I never read of a revolution with so little color. It has been going on, or nearly so, for many months, running even through the horse racing season, yet from all I can see it is as blood-curdling as a postseason baseball game between the Phillies and Bridgeport.

No fooling, it is so flat that it is not doing Cuba any good, from an advertising standpoint. Cuba has been nibbled before the tourist public as a red-hot country where temperament and emotion have full swing. These Cubans are supposed to be not blooded, yet a revolution couldn't be tamer if staged in Vermont.

What kind of ball are the leaders playing, anyhow? If it is for the slow motion, look at it. In a drug store I don't know whether he was there to get a sandwich or a popular novel, but I can imagine a no less dramatic spot for a revolutionist to be taken. I never read of a man who much to hear any day now of some more leaders being captured on a Tom Thumb golf course and a peace treaty being ultimately signed at a soda fountain.

Of course it is their own revolution and the Cubans have a right to run it their way, but if they want to get it across in the

More than a score of trained horses, 18 or 20 fancy saddles and other equipment, valued at more than $4,000, belonging to the 101 Ranch Wild West Show, have been reported stolen by Harry S. Barger, attorney for the show, it was learned yesterday.

Mr. Barger said he believed the horses and equipment were stolen either by employees or "hangers on" who took the animals out on the pretense of watering them. It is believed they were sold to riding schools here and in nearby States as horses answering to their descriptions have been reported in several establishments around Washington.

NEW ASSESSMENT
TOTALS $30,692,500

$3,597,247 Is Added to Intangibles by Threat of Mandamus.

The value of new buildings and additions constructed in Washington during the past fiscal year, which ended June 30, amounted to $30,692,500. Tax Assessor William F. Richards stated yesterday in his report to the District Commissioners. This new property was distributed as follows: Northwest, $8,221,900; Northeast and Southeast, $834,500; Southwest, $230,500; Northwest county and Georgetown, $15,512,700; Northeast and Southeast county, $5,692,900.

A marked reduction in the taxes collected on tangible personal property was a feature of the report. Presumably because of the business depression, these assessments fell from $107,206,520 to $82,039,776 last year. Taxes levied against this class of property dropped from $1,922,510.46 to $1,396,612.01.

On the other hand, the assessments of intangible personal property jumped from $355,000,000 to $358,537,274 or $3,537,274 despite the business depression. The respective tax valuations of securities fell 30 per cent between July 1, 1929, and July 1, 1930.

This increase in assessments was attributed by the tax assessor to the fact that he took advantage of provisions of the personal tax law and warned property holders that mandamus proceedings could be started for failure to file returns.

"During the past year it was only necessary to advise a number of persons as to this provision of the law," Mr. Richards said in his report, "and it was not necessary to take advantage of the act and file mandamus proceedings."

Assessed valuation on real estate last year amounted to $1,211,162,618 as compared to $1,162,468,345 the previous year. The respective levies were $20,589,764 and $20,101,877.

Personal taxes on the 110,000 automobiles in the District last year averaged $4 and totaled $440,189.96. Sale of 87,046.67 gallons of gasoline brought $1,740,921.46 in taxes.

Assessments in the water main tax division amounted to $252,867.32 as against $165,261.50 for the same period ended June 30, 1930.

Braving Smoke Screen,

Policemen A. L. Embrey and C. H. Gould seized an auto containing 48 half-gallon jars of corn whisky early yesterday after they had braved a smoke screen in a chase of several miles which ended at Fourth and Washington streets northwest, where the colored driver pulled up, leaped out and ran.

The policemen, cruising in a radio car, opened pursuit at Fourth and K streets when they saw a puff of smoke issue inadvertently from the rear of the car, which was leaving a filling station.

Rhode Island avenue traffic lights went on an spree in the wee small hours this morning, or so it seemed to motorists and milkmen, who faced an amber light barrage throughout the length of that broad thoroughfare. It was just Traffic Director William A. Van Duzer in a playful mood. He was trying out his new "flash amber" method of warning "flash traffic" of hazards in the road. The barrier kept up from midnight until 7 o'clock this morning, hours when the lights ordinarily don't operate at all.

On the "beacon" principle, used with so much success along the coast and on inland waterways, the lights will continue to "flash amber" at half-second intervals until the system has had a thorough trial. Then or amber but installed on other busy thoroughfares.

Homeless Car Is Held
For Man Who Owes $4

Lizzie could tell a sad story if she were articulate; the sad story of an unwanted roadster, a roadster whose future will bear the stigma of a police record.

The car was towed to the Thirtieth Precinct station yesterday by police after they concluded it had been abandoned at Georgia and Concord avenues northwest. Through the license tags its ownership was traced to J. A. Bogan, of the Veterans' Bureau, who lives at 67 W street northwest.

"She's not mine any more," Mr. Bogan said, if not in just those words. "I sold her some time ago to a man whose name I don't know. The price was only $4, but he didn't even pay me that."

So Lizzie languishes at the station, awaiting an owner who is willing to be charged with having dead license tags and parking more than eighteen hours in one place before he can drive (or tow) her out of captivity.

WARDMAN TENANTS
SEEK PART IN SUIT

Hotel Residents Request
Court to Make One of Group a Receiver.

Justice F. D. Letts, of the District Supreme Court, was asked yesterday by 28 tenants of the Wardman Park Hotel to permit them to intervene in the foreclosure suit brought by the Central Hanover Bank & Trust Co., of New York, against the Wardman Real Estate Properties, Inc.

The tenants ask intervention so that one member of their group can become a member of the receivership group, now composed of three men. The idea is that the resident receiver can keep the other tenants acquainted with developments so they will have a definite source of information as to whether they will be allowed to remain, and also as to the price they must pay for their apartments.

The petition recites the charge that the hotel furnishings have been allowed to run down. Through membership with the other receivers, the tenants hope to have the lobby rehabilitated, and they ask the "muddled" conditions to improve. It was pointed out that many of the tenants have lived in the hotel since its inception, and they wish to remain there because they have come to consider the place as their home.

Tenants who signed the petition are William O. Chapman, Lee G. Lauck, Ivan M. Baker, W. F. Wilmoth, C. G. Marshall, John Munhall, Jr., Gertrude L. Reed, W. J. Drew, Jesse R. Daragh, Charles P. Reid, Gerald M. Johnson, Francis L. Browne, Harry E. Baker, D. Miller, Hester M. Gillett, C. B. Rodick, James E. Duke, S. A. Manuel, Lewis W. Cass, Robert E. Schoenfeld, Florence M.
